A Fence to Mend

San Bruno 4-H Club Violates Ordinance

By BOB PETERSON

San Bruno's 4-H Club has one big fence to mend before its operation is a complete success.

The group, which conducted an open house and auction on Sunday, has been operating illegally in the city for a number of years.

City code section 4-5, "Keeping of Livestock," prohibits the maintenance of cloven-hooved animals within city limits. Exception to this ordinance is for racing horses that once circled the old Tanforan track.

The violation popped up during a budget study session Thursday night. Council members were mulling a 4-H request to have the city run power lines to the pens at an estimated cost of $1,500.

In the past the city has contributed labor to the 4-Hers' efforts and numerous clubs and organizations within the city have through the years contributed to the 4-H Club.

The 4-H Club has been in the process of rebuilding its farm facilities for the past 18 months on the southeast corner of the Belle Air School property.

The open house and auction was a fund raising event to aid in completing the facilities.

Before moving to this new location, the club had been located along First Avenue and was required to move because of widening of that street.

At that time the city and other groups attempted to find the 4-H Club a new home. The school property was ultimately selected.

And the club has been working feverishly to build and maintain a good facility, mainly by scrounging both materials and labor.

The San Bruno city engineering staff helped with engineering problems. The city of San Francisco allowed use of its land for access. A nearby contractor built them a gravel road, and various other groups contributed what they could in time and materials.

Obviously no one paid much attention to the ordinance that has been on the books for years.

Rather than looking at it as a violation of the law, Acting City Manager Leo Van Dusen euphemistically said, "We'll have to do something about that continuing non-conforming usage."

Van Dusen said there is a possibility that the council members could change the ordinance to include in the exception (along with Tanforan's long gone race horses) "organized groups in specifically approved areas."

No Pacifica Zone Change on DeSoto

There will be no change in Pacifica's DeSoto Drive area zoning, unless the Linda Mar Shopping Center itself expands.

The city council Monday acted after hearing a report on possible zoning changes.

The council also:

Voted to retain its judo program under parks, beaches and recreation after receiving several protests about an earlier decision to abandon the program because of a "conflict of interest" complaint from a private judo instruction concern.

—Upheld, with some modification spelled out in a new plan, an appeal by Developer Robert A. C. nary to the Planning Commission decision on the granting of a permit for site development to Terra Nova Townhomes Unit 3.

As a result of council action, there will be an entrance on Poplar and one on Terra Nova Boulevard.

—Denied an application for a grading permit extension in connection with proposed Sea Garden Apartments on Palmetto Avenue, between the ocean and Fairmont West.

D.C. Sewer Project Will Start

When Daly City originally asked for bids to construct a storm sewer pipeline, at Wild Man's Gulch there were few bidders.

Those who bid on the project asked for considerably more money than the city engineer had expected.

The city council rejected the initial bids, changed the name of the project to Avalon Drive Storm Drain, and again advertised for bids.

City Engineer David K. Macabee estimated costs at $35,000 for the Avalon project.

Low bid for the project was awarded Monday to Joseph Kaplan Inc., of Daly City ($31,120). The project will start as soon as possible.

Colma Police and Money Problems

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Broadmoor police, plagued by increased costs and a limited budget, Thursday presented their financial woes to the town of Colma.

Raymond Savage, Broadmoor police chief, accompanied by district police commissioners John McCloskey and Kevin McDonald, informed Colma councilmen they need more money if that community of 500 wants continued protection from Broadmoor.

Presently Colma pays Broadmoor $1,000 per month for this protection. Savage asked for $4,000 monthly, or an increase of $48,000 per year.

Broadmoor's entire police budget is some $121,000 annually.

But the people of Broadmoor are tired of paying extra for Colma's police protection. Savage told the study session of the council.

Since the death of Colma's police chief, Albert Lagomarsino, last week the city of cemeteries has experienced one setback after another all relating to police protection.

Latest has been a notice to the city from the Hartford Insurance Company that insurance protection for the city will be canceled next month.

The insurance carrier had canceled coverage last week, but agreed to extend the coverage 30 days.

Risk factors in Colma are on the rise, an insurance company spokesman said.

They say many communities are likewise finding it difficult to get proper insurance coverage for one reason or another.

The handwriting appeared on the wall for the city when the insurance carrier late last year increased its reserves on Colma from $2,200 to $35,000.

The insurance policy was contracted for three years with two years left on the policy life.

Reasons offered for this dramatic increase were damage suits involving the city because of floods from Colma Creek some three years ago.

Since that time such suits have subsided, however, but other suits have cropped up.

Colma now has pending against it, for example, a $750,000 lawsuit stemming from an accident between a motorcycle and a Colma police car in which a 17-year-old youth was injured last November on Mission Road in South San Francisco.

The suit names officer Ray J. Ottoboni as the driver of the police car.

It claims the young officer cut in front of the youth with his patrol car while turning into a driveway.

Ottoboni, the focal point of recent community turmoil because of the possibility he may be named as chief Lagomarsino's successor, resigned from the city council in February, 1970, to take the police post.

For several years Broadmoor and Colma (incorporated) have had a working contract.

During daylight hours Colma would be policed by its police department — Lagomarsino — and recently Ottoboni with Broadmoor's seven men (plus 17 trained reserves) backing him up. At night Broadmoor had total responsibility for policing the town.

Some Colma residents attending a public council meeting Monday expressed opposition to the appointment of Officer Ottoboni as Lagomarsino's replacement.

They claim the young officer has not had sufficient experience as a law enforcement officer to take over the high post.

But Mayor Ray D. Ottoboni, father of the policeman, disagreed and informed his fellow councilmen he felt his son was the best choice for the job.

D.C. Opposes Realignment Proposals

Daly City is opposing legislation that will bite off a section of the city and lump it into a new, larger congressional district with San Francisco.

In a strongly worded resolution to the State Legislature, the city council "requested" that Daly City not be part of any scheme to bolster San Francisco's population-weakened congressional and senatorial districts.

Reports have circulated in San Mateo and San Francisco counties that a section of Westlake along the northwest boundary between the counties may be redistricted and end up in San Francisco's district.

This would mean those Daly City residents affected would not have a say in legislation that affected them directly, city officials claim.

Daly City councilmen called the legislation—if passed—detrimental and said it would "bring about a dilution and a lessening of the ability of San Mateo County representatives to speak for all of (the county)."

The resolution noted that Daly City in recent years had become more intertwined with neighboring communities.

The city has entered into several joint-powers agreements with these cities, city manager David Rowe noted.

"Combining Daly City ... with other cities outside the county ... for congressional, assembly and senatorial districts, will effectively and completely eradicate any voice Daly City may have in connection with its interests, problems and welfare ...," the resolution said.

Signs Okay'd for S. Bruno Intersection

A battle of sorts was won Monday by concerned parents of children attending Belle Air School in San Bruno who are forced to cross a dangerous intersection at Third and San Bruno Avenues.

After hearing a plea from Mrs. Betty Raff, council members instructed Acting City Manager Leo Van Dusen to have a yellow crosswalk stripe painted on the road and to install some pre-warning signs.

"We want to give maximum notice to motorists that this is a child's crossing," said Councilman George Corey. San Bruno Avenue carries some 37,000 cars daily.

Van Dusen informed the council that the yellow stripe would be a violation of the state vehicle code, in that it is authorized only within 500 feet of a school. They asked for it anyway.

Mrs. Raff, who also submitted a petition with 300 names of persons requesting immediate action, said the city's Traffic Safety Committee "coolly dismissed" any action on the P-TA's request.

She said future hopes of the P-TA and parents is for a pedestrian overpass at that site.

Free Concert in South S.F.

Westmoor and South San Francisco High Schools will present a joint concert of their bands and choruses at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The free concert, featuring a 100-piece band, will be at the South San Francisco High School.

JUDGE Frank Blum of the San Mateo County Superior Court was awarded a plaque for his many services to the International Courts of Conciliation in San Mateo last week. Blum is the first recipient of the award since the organization became international. The ICC is devoted to keeping families together.

Tax Jump Bemoaned by Brunans

If Monday's city council meeting is any indication, taxes hurt in San Bruno.

The chief complaint among taxpayers was that the recent property tax assessment jumped anywhere from 20 to 50 per cent. One resident displayed tax forms showing a 70 per cent increase.

Mrs. Ruth Harris called the property tax a confiscatory tax and asked the council members not to increase the budget until some type of tax reform has been instituted.

Acting City Mgr. Leo Van Dusen said he would like an opportunity to check on any change in the estimated total assessed valuation for the city. Councilmen scheduled the next budget session for 7:30 p.m. on June 3.

All council members said they had received notice of large increases in assessed valuation and most said they were shocked.

However, the council members said they could not do much about it. They said the individual citizen must make himself heard to his representatives in Sacramento.

Councilman George Corey said he would favor some kind of different property tax structuring, but was not specific as to what those changes might be.

S.P. Train Tampering Charge Told

Southern Pacific police, assisted by South San Francisco police, early on Tuesday arrested a San Brunan for allegedly tampering with a commuter train's air brakes.

Booked, then released on his own recognizance was Joel Cooper, 35, of 181 Santo Domingo. Police said he is scheduled to appear in Northern Judicial Court on June 14.

Southern Pacific Police Officer Daniel O'Connor said he saw a man standing in the area between cars on the last commuter train out of San Francisco.

As the train passed through South San Francisco, the man appeared to be reaching over his head and apparently trying to turn off the air brake valve, police said. The man refused to identify himself.

At the next stop, San Bruno, the SP officer called South San Francisco police because the alleged offense occurred in that city.

North County Effort to Round Up Stray Dogs

The North County is participating in a single effort to round up stray dogs by citing the owners of loose dogs.

Specially prepared uniform citations for use by Humane officers are now being printed up at the county facility in Redwood City. When they are available, the citing begins.

Under the procedure stray dogs found by Humane officers will be taken to the owner whereupon a citation for $25 will be issued. This citation is in essence bail money. The owner may pay the fine, forfeiting the bail, or choose to appear in court, where he could be fined as high as $500.

This campaign is intended to serve as a model for similar efforts in the rest of San Mateo County. The North County has been having the most serious problems with strays, however, so it was begun there, according to Rich Ward, Redwood City shelter superintendent with the Peninsula Humane Society.

The Society is coordinating efforts. Ward said uniform citation forms, fines and enforcement are the goals in all cities in the county, hopefully by midsummer.

He noted that some cities, such as Burlingame, already have good citation programs for owners of errant dogs. In others, such as Redwood City and Menlo Park, negotiations are in progress for such citation programs.

Judge F. Jose de Larios of the North County Judicial District met with attorneys from the North County cities of Pacifica, Daly City, South San Francisco and San Bruno on May 11 to map strategy. Although not represented at the meeting, Brisbane is part of the effort.

"The gist of the whole thing is to bring the defendant before the court," said North County Court Clerk Dick Liberty. He said there has been no consistency in trying to combat the ever-growing dog problem.

San Bruno City Atty. Joe Galligan told council members Monday night that similar procedures in Marin County "reached a peak" in about 60 days.

Should the animal be impounded because the owner cannot be immediately located, the fine still holds, plus the impound fee. According to Galligan, a second offense is non-bailable, meaning the dog owner must appear in court. "The cost will be substantially higher than the $25," said Galligan.

Judge de Larios called the meeting and established this procedure because the number of dog cases being submitted by city attorneys reached the point where they were taking valuable court time. One had as high as 15 cases within a 30-day period.

For the benefit of persons desiring to appear in court in defense of their pets, the judge set a special time at 9 a.m. on Thursday mornings.

Setting this special period has another purpose. It may serve to make people realize there is in fact a dog problem when they appear in court and see their neighbors there too.

"Most people are oblivious to the fact that dogs are creating a problem," said one attorney. "If they go to court and see others in their same position, maybe they'll realize it is a problem."

Put another way: it could be expensive to have a dog running loose in the North County.

McDonald's Loses Plea in Millbrae

A long-standing distaste among Millbrae residents and city officials for drive-in restaurants was demonstrated again Monday with a Planning Commission refusal of a permit to operate a McDonald's cafe.

The request had been submitted by motel owner Earl Wilms to construct and operate a restaurant on his property at Center Street and El Camino Real.

The issue, which had been examined by the planners during previous meetings, was rejected by a 4-1 vote at the end of three hours of public hearing.

Local residents had raised objections ranging from possibility of the cafe becoming a place where young people might congregate, to the possibility that it might become a marketplace for dope peddlers.

They also complained of traffic and noise problems relating to the adjacent St. Dunstan's Church and school.

Richard Slater, presenting the case for McDonald's and for Wilms, offered to have the question held over another two weeks, to allow a restudy of parking, which commissioners had questioned. He had already been required to provide more thorough planning for parking and architecture than originally presented, but commissioners said their doubts about allowing the cafe would not be solved by providing more parking.

Only Chairman Eugene Morasoli voted for the permit, saying he felt the proposal would be good for the property.

On having his McDonald's application "turned down, Wilms then withdrew, for the time, another proposal which seeks approval of a plan to subdivide the block into four pieces, allowing space for a cafe, for a proposed Goodyear tire store, and for two other commercial operations.

Swift D.C. Dog Action

Stiff Law Makes First Hurdle

A new animal leash law carrying stiffer fines passed its first hurdle at a meeting of the Daly City City Council Monday.

The law will not only make dog owners keep a tighter rein on their pets, but also will make them clean up any mess made by pets on a public right of way or private property.

Penalties for violations could run as high as $500 and six months in jail for three convictions in 12 months.

The tough new law was needed, officials say, to curb dog attacks on residents.

Roving bands of dogs have been blamed for defacing property. Some dogs have formed packs and are attacking people, it was brought out during recent hearings.

Drafted by city attorney Albert Polonsky, the ordinance passed its first reading before the council Monday with no difficulty. A proposal that would double license fees for dog owners was tabled for further study.

At last week's study session, the council was questioned on the reasons for doubling the fees from $4 for all pet owners.

It was felt by some residents that the jump was not warranted.

We Have Moved

The offices of the North County Post and the North County Bureau of the San Mateo Times have been moved from the Westlake Shopping Center to San Bruno.

The new location is 205 Angus Avenue West—but the mailing address is P.O. Box 248, San Bruno, Ca. 94066.

Telephone numbers also have been changed.

The Post-Times' toll-free number is 589-1234.

Another line, 348-4494, also is available.

Boy, 4, Is Fatally Injured in Accident in Pacifica

Robert W. Halkyard, a 4-year-old Pacifica boy who suffered head injuries when a motorcycle fell on him, died at 11:30 a.m. Monday at Mary's Help Hospital.

Name Given Frontage Road

The Shelter Creek apartment complex frontage road now has a name, giving the development a much needed mailing address.

San Bruno Council members Monday night okayed a request of the developer to call it Shelter Creek Lane. The road parallels Interstate 280.

Council members also approved an easement request of PG&E for a gas main in a water line easement on the road.

The boy had been admitted to the hospital after the freak accident near his home last Wednesday.

The county coroner's office said he had been in a coma for several days.

Henry Anduha of 541 de Alameda, El Granada, was the operator of the cycle.

The Halkyard boy ran across Palmetto Avenue in front of a car which stopped in time. Anduha swerved the cycle to avoid a rear-end crash with the car, according to Pacifica Police Officer Edward Burton.

The 480-pound motorcycle fell over on top of the child and the brake pedal struck the child's head, Officer Burton said.

The child was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Halkyard, who also have a daughter, Kristina.

Support for Tax Measure

All three San Mateo County state legislators support new legislation to impose a state-wide property tax for education, however they have some reservations.

State Senator Arlen F. Gregorio (D-San Mateo) and Assemblyman Dixon Arnett (R-Redwood City) told 35 persons at a public information meeting at the San Mateo City School District office Saturday that they felt that the state should pay the bulk of education costs, but that the money should be raised from sources other than property taxes.

Arnett noted that the bills are in trouble in Sacramento because of their provisions for a levy of $3.75 per $100 assessed valuation instead of the present local school district property taxes.

Robert Caughlan, field representative for Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan (D-South San Francisco), told the audience that Ryan considers the property tax "a nineteenth century antique," but is for the new proposals because there is only $450 per student in tax money available in his north San Mateo County district. The bills, Senate Bill 801 and Assembly Bill 1406, would provide block grants of $667 per elementary school student statewide.

Gregorio said loopholes in other tax laws must be closed and income tax reforms made to help raise enough revenues for the state's needs. He and Arnett said they considered the statewide property tax bills in serious trouble, Arnett calling the Assembly bill chances slim.

The bills have gained wide support in education circles.

San Mateo City School District Business Manager David Shapiro said the block grants would allow a five-cent tax cut to San Mateo taxpayers, even including the allowable over-rides.

Districts, which contain 90 percent of the total enrollment in the state, would be able to have lower tax rates under the new measures, backers say. Some wealthier districts would have their rates raised, however, although Burlingame and Hillsborough are the only ones so affected in San Mateo County, Gregorio noted.

Werder Decides to Seek Another Supervisor Term

By VIRGIL WILSON
County Supervisor William M. Werder's itch to run for reelection next year turned into a full rash yesterday.

Werder made it official: He does intend to be a candidate to succeed himself as supervisor from the Fourth District in the primary election next June.

The existence of the "itch" was reported last week. When Werder last ran in 1968 he said it would be his last four-year term on the board, that he intended to retire upon completion of the term at the end of 1972. He confirmed last week, however, that he was thinking about changing his mind.

In making it official today, Werder told reporters: "The two major sources, my family, number one, and my doctor, number two, said 'A-OK, Go.' So I'm going."

Werder said he decided to make the announcement at this time, rather than wait until the end of the year, in order to save potential candidates, who would run only if he did not, the possibility of being hurt.

Werder said he talked about his plans with one of the potential candidates, Redwood City Councilman Herbert Petersen, who was expected to get Werder's endorsement as his successor.

"He was very, very polite, and most gentlemanly," Werder said, "but, of course, a little disappointed."

Petersen last week bought a new house in Redwood City and intends to move there so that he will be eligible to run for the board post. His present home became a part of the Third District under a recent realignment of supervisorial district boundaries.

He had this word for his potential challengers: "I'm going for the win."

Werder said improved health is the major factor in his decision.

"I meant it when I said I was quitting," he declared. "But I would turn into a jellyfish if I left. It's a great board, and I like them."

The only announced candidate, Redwood City realtor and former councilman William Royer, commented: "This won't affect my plans at all. I'm in to stay and I think I can win. He has every right to change his mind."

Petersen said the news "came as a shock to me, and of course I'm disappointed." He plans to move his family into the new house this weekend. Despite that, he indicated that he might not run.

"Bill Werder has been a friend of mine for many years. I have put in a lot of time in preparation for running for this office, and I have at this time the nucleus for a county-wide campaign committee."

"After talking with Werder I contacted members of my committee and indicated that Bill was running for re-election and that it appeared that I would not be a candidate."

"But in respect for the work they have done toward my campaign and, in response to their request that I not make a decision until such time as we can sit down and discuss the matter, I have no formal statement to make."

John Sherman, San Mateo attorney and losing candidate for the State Assembly last year and who moved last month from San Mateo to Menlo Park presumably to run for the board position, remained officially uncommitted today.

"I'm very pleased to hear that Mr. Werder is going to run," he said. "But if he should decide to pull out of the race, I would be very pleased to have his endorsement."

Sherman was the Republican candidate against Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan in the Twenty-seventh Assembly District race last year.

Veterans Treated To Flight

Sixty patients at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco, men who have been seriously wounded in the Vietnam War, were guests Saturday of a group of TWA pilots.

Captain Russ Bowen of Los Altos, Co-pilot Larry Crosson, and Flight Engineer Joe Frawley were hosts when the veterans, mostly amputees, were driven from the hospital to San Francisco International Airport, and put aboard a special jet flight over Northern California.

Bowen, Crosson, and Frawley donated their flying skills, but costs were taken care of by donations from 500 other locally based pilots for the airline.

Stewardesses, including Georgia Klamon, Connie Draper, Judy Cieciwicz, and Judy Highsmith, also gave up their free time to serve the men who have been wounded while serving their country.

Captain Bowen said, "The young men in veterans hospitals and military hospitals across the country are often forgotten men in the swirl of publicity about the war in Vietnam, the Prisoners of War, and our numerous domestic problems."

The men were flown over San Francisco, with Captain Bowen providing a special sight-seeing commentary, and then circled northward to Mount Shasta, and back.

Hearing to Rezone Slated

San Bruno council members have set June 14 for a public hearing on a recommendation to rezone approximately 70 acres to a planned development on the site between freeways 280 and 380, Elm and San Bruno Avenues.

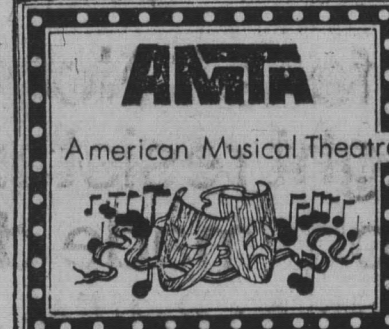

The project by developer Lewis W. Douglas is tentatively named "Bayhill" and is scheduled to be developed in nine separate sections.

Reformation of Committee Is Suggested

San Bruno Mayor Maurice Hamilton has requested reformation of the city's capital improvements committee.

He asked fellow council members Monday night to take the matter under submission for action at the next council meeting. Hamilton suggested that the committee consist of one member from each of the city's commissions and committees and two residents, plus ex-officio representation by a councilman, city manager and city engineer.

He wanted the first organizational meeting to be held in July, at which time all departments would submit proposals on capital improvements for the next five years.

Councilman Tony Governale said he wanted residential representation of four persons instead of two, and asked that the council select the commission and committee representatives.

Councilman George Corey suggested that the first organizational meeting be held in September, after the hiring of a new city manager.

Boys Found in Slaying Case

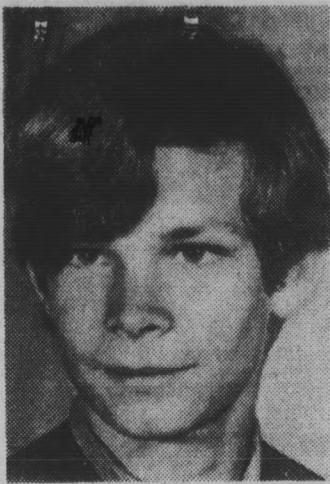

The two South San Francisco boys wanted for questioning in connection with the death of a 17-year-old sister of one of the youths were taken into custody Wednesday.

Robert Vernal Anderson, 15, the dead girl's brother, and Jerald Carl Clymo, 14, a companion, have been booked on charges of murder and incorrigibility. They had fled home May 8 and had been hiding out in Pacifica and San Francisco.

Police said the Anderson youth walked into the South San Francisco police station at 5 p.m. Thursday with his San Bruno attorney, John Segall, and turned himself in.

Clymo, however, was arrested in San Francisco at about 11:30 p.m. Detective Jack Rhodes said the arrest was made at an apartment at 515 O'Farrell St. with the aid of San Francisco police.

Also arrested at that time was

Robert Anderson

Jerald Clymo

James Marvin Newell, 47, who listed an occupation as seaman. San Francisco police booked him on charges of suspicion of lewd sex acts.

Rhodes said it was necessary to forcibly open the door of the apartment. He said Clymo was hiding under a bed.

Both boys were wearing the same clothing they had on when police began their search for the youth on May 8, the day after the body of Karen Lee Anderson was found by her mother. Police said she died of apparent strangulation. The coroner's office said they are still making tests, and have no determination.

Top JA Award to D.C. Student

An 18-year-old Daly City student was presented the $1000 top scholarship award last week at the 1971 Junior Achievement Awards banquet in San Francisco.

Keith Thomas, a senior at Serramonte High School, received the highest award among scholarships ranging from $100 to $1000 for participation in the model business training program.

The program helps junior achievers gain business experience by organizing and managing small businesses under the supervision of adult firms.

Thomas, a resident of 40 Longview Drive, says he will use the scholarship money to study pharmacology and business administration at San Francisco State College.

His company, Grapetel, was recognized as the year's best sales company and also shared company of the year honors with a junior firm called Deco-Prints. Grapetel produces ornamental artificial grape clusters. The banquet, attended by more than 1000 persons, was held at the Hilton Hotel.

Loan Made for Tanforan

An $11,300,000 mortgage loan, commitment on mall stores and a parking facility at Tanforan Park Shopping Center in San Bruno was announced by New York Life Insurance Company.

The mortgage loan's first phase, for $8,150,000, covers the two-story, air-conditioned group of mall stores now in operation. A total of 235,908 square feet of rentable space is included.

The second phase, for $3,150,000 will cover an additional 85,091 square feet of retail space and a multi-decked parking garage. Construction is scheduled to begin this fall.

The mortgagor is Tanforan Park Shopping Center. The loan was arranged by Heitman Mortgage Company of Chicago, a New York Life loan correspondent.

$82,795,000 Suit Filed Over Millbrae Project

An $82,795,000 lawsuit has been filed by Millbrae developer James Richmond against his former business partners.

Richmond, the man who created Millbrae Square and the Richmond Drive apartment area, is asking the damages from the Tishman Realty & Construction Corporation, and from Irolo Corporation.

Tishman and Irolo are corporate partnerships which have been engaged in promoting and planning a multi-story office-hotel center on 6.3 acres of land at Old Bayshore Highway and Millbrae Avenue.

The property was to be known as Tishman Airport Center, when city approvals were first granted eight years ago. Nothing but a signboard ever has been erected on the site.

Richmond says the property was bought from him, by Irolo and Tishman corporations, in 1964, under a purchase agreement calling for Tishman to develop the complex of buildings and make an investment of $7,000,000 to $8,000,000, with Richmond retaining a 25 per cent interest. In a suit filed for Richmond by Attorney Thomas Bocci Richmond says it was reasonably anticipated that the entire project would generate an established total value in excess of $12,000,000.

He also noted that he had "at the request of the Irolo Corporation and Tishman, devoted his time and energies to obtaining the necessary zoning and permits for the development, from the city of Millbrae."

The Millbrae City Council granted extensions to these permits three times but late last year refused any further approvals.

At about that time, Tishman announced it had made an agreement with the realty firm of Coldwell, Banker, to market the site.

Richmond's complaint alleges that Tishman stalled development of the property and alleges that Tishman violated the purchase agreement with him by selling the site to Ryan, Marocco & Company in March at a price estimated at $1,600,000.

Ryan, Marocco and Company is also named in the suit, as a defendant.

D.C. Taxpayers to Gain if Assembly Bill Passes

Jefferson Union High School District taxpayers will benefit if Assembly Bill 1406 — school fund reapportionment and equalization — is approved, the district's business manager disclosed last week.

Assistant Supt. Glenn South told trustees that they could offer the same program for 38 cents less on the tax rate, based on this year's computations and conditions, if the proposed law was in effect.

Ninety per cent of the districts in California would benefit from the proposal, South said.

He outlined an analysis of the measure approved by J. Russell Kent, county schools' superintendent.

AB 1406 would equalize financial support for each California schoolchild and would establish revenue controls. It would provide for annual levy and collection of statewide property taxes for elementary, high school and community college purposes at a rate of $3.75 per each $100 of assessed valuation.

The proposal would provide each elementary school a support of $667 per unit of average daily attendance at the elementary level, $874 at the high school level and $917 at the community college level.

Statutory and override tax rates would be eliminated. Expenditure levels could be exceeded only by a majority vote of local voters.

Wealthy districts are battling the measure, South said.

The JUHSD would show gains in several apportionment areas, South pointed out, under a proposed state school property tax fund system.

$5,000 Fund May Be Kept for Center

Doors were kept open Thursday for a possible $500 support contribution by San Bruno to the South San Francisco-based Information and Referral Center.

Although based in South San Francisco, those associated with the organization are quick to point out that it also serves San Bruno residents.

Council members Thursday agreed to hold the matter of giving any kind of aid over until a later unspecified date. Father Frank Brady of St. Bruno's Catholic Church said he would set up a meeting between the clergy in that city, the council and center personnel in an effort to determine if there is a real need for financial aid.

During last night's meeting Mayor Maurice Hamilton expressed concern whether financial support was legal.

Told that other cities are contributing to the self help centers, he said, "I don't care what other cities have done. Some are very careless about what they do with their money."

Councilwoman Margaret Kozowski opposed the expenditure, saying, "People who want should get on their feet and get," she said.

D.C. Student Hit on Head

A 15-year-old Serramonte High School student was arrested yesterday after he allegedly struck another student over the head with a meat tenderizer.

Police, who refused to identify either of the boys, said the victim suffered minor lacerations and a bump on the head after being hit.

The incident occurred in the school's cafeteria when the victim refused to hand over money to the other youth about 11:15 a.m.

School authorities called police and the boy was arrested and charged with assault with a deadly weapon. He was taken to Juvenile Hall at Hillcrest.

Slight Drop in School Budget

The Millbrae School District Board of Trustees resumed their study of the proposed budget at their meeting last week at the Chadbourne School Annex.

The total tentative budget of $4,079,052 is $72,257 less than that of last year, and is based on the current tax rate.

Trustees devoted their attention to sections of the budget pertaining to total health services, $20,100, representing an increase of $452; pupil transportation, $55,184, a decrease of $828; total operations, $239,474, an increase of $11,960.

Maintenance costs, including classified salaries, building and grounds repairs and upkeep, equipment replacement, vandalism costs and building modifications, $137,636, a decrease of $150,431.

Total fixed charges are $246,325, a $5,025 increase.

An increase of $1,500 is represented in the $3,000 budgeted for meals for needy children, due to a greater need than anticipated.

Total community services including some classified salaries, utilities, and volunteer student transportation are budgeted at $49,753, an increase of $3,198.

Total capital outlay is decreased $120,568, and budgeted at $10,872.

Supt. Edward J. Muehlhausen stated that he would be meeting with representatives of both teachers and classified employees for further consideration of requests for changes in salaries. Results of the sessions will be reported to the board.

The board approved the preparation of specifications for bids on drainage work at the Taylor School athletic field.

The board also heard a report indicating that over 16,000 lunches had been served during the 17 day school month of April, and were told that about 43 per cent of the students get cafeteria lunches.

At their next meeting, on June 7, the board will consider proposed budget adjustments and discuss the district's philosophy and goals, which are being formulated with the assistance of the community.

Daly City's Top Students Honored

By FRANK LAPIERRE

The Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce Thursday honored 12 outstanding students from the city's three high schools.

It was the Thirteenth Annual Student Awards Dinner.

But someone apparently decided to bypass that historically unlucky number. So for two years in a row they have called the affair the "Twelfth Annual Students Awards Dinner."

Emcee Elio Fontana informed the more than 250 students, parents, civic leaders, city and school officials that "next year we want you back to help honor the outstanding students at the fourteenth annual awards dinner."

The speakers, including Chamber of Commerce president James Sargent, Mayor Bernard J. Lycett and Jefferson Union High School Superintendent Edward Morgan, praised the students.

Course Asked on Draft

Trustees of the Jefferson High School District agreed last week to study a request for draft counseling and a course to explain the nation's selective service system.

Clark L. Natwick, a former South San Francisco teacher, and Karen Pierce, a draft counselor, both Pacifica residents, made the requests.

Both Serramonte and Westmoor High Schools have conducted some selective service counseling programs, trustees were told.

Not Guilty Pleas in Bomb Case

Pleas of not guilty have been entered by George C. Patterson, 29, for charges of two attempted fire bombings in San Bruno, and his roommate Byron Lee McDonald for charges of cultivating marijuana in their apartment.

Judge Jose de Larios of the Northern Judicial Court in South San Francisco said he would take under submission attorneys' requests for either release on their own recognizance or reduction of bail for both defendants.

Patterson is represented by A-am Serverian of South San Francisco, and is presently being held on $50,000 bail. McDonald's court appointed attorney is R. Michael Harwood of San Francisco. Bail for McDonald had been set at $10,000.

Judge de Larios also set a preliminary hearing on both cases for 10 a.m. on May 28. At that time, should the cases be moved to the trial status they undoubtedly will be heard separately, according to one attorney.

Patterson was arrested Tuesday along with Darrell L. Bennight, 17, of 2320 Princeton Drive, San Bruno, for fire bombing attempts Monday of the San Bruno Herald newspaper and Bank of America offices at 465 San Mateo Avenue on May 4.

The newspaper building suffered very slight damage. The attempt on the bank failed because the molotov cocktail failed to light.

The attorneys expressed concern that there already has been extensive publicity on the fact Patterson admitted the bombings in a seven-page statement to San Bruno police.

Patterson reportedly volunteered that he was the only person responsible for the bombings and that Bennight simply drove a get-away vehicle. Bennight is being retained by juvenile authorities in Hillcrest Detention Center, Belmont.

Probation for D.C. Man

A Daly City man who admitted trying to extort $100,000 from the Bank of America by threatening to burn its 52-story world headquarters has been placed on five years' probation.

The bank's 35th floor was damaged by a three-alarm fire last November 18 about the same time Battista D. Pietrelli, 46, 16 Frankfort, was arrested as he parked over a dummy package of money a few blocks away.

The bank had received fire or bomb threats over a three-week period.

In letting him off with probation, U.S. District Court Judge William P. Gray of Los Angeles noted Thursday he was a first offender and that psychiatric reports indicated he was not likely to repeat.

Pietrelli, weeping, accepted the court's condition that he take whatever mental treatments the federal probation office suggested.

A real estate appraiser and father of three sons, Pietrelli had been treated at the Palo Alto Veterans Hospital until it was determined he was capable of being tried, then pleaded guilty.

Bruno Mom Saves Baby

A San Bruno mother saved her eight-month-old daughter from her smoke-filled home after overheated grease ignited on the kitchen stove Wednesday.

Fire officials said Mrs. Raymond Schmitke of 3240 Sneath Lane was outside when the oil caught fire and kitchen cabinets began to burn.

As smoke filled the house, Mrs. Schmitke dashed inside, grabbed her daughter and raced to a neighbor's home to call firemen.

Her eight-year-old son was outside when the fire started, firemen said.

Damage was estimated at $2,000 to the structure and $100 to contents.

County Assured Schools Safe in Quake

By VIRGIL WILSON

SAN MATEO COUNTY schools are "100 per cent clean" in the matter of earthquake safety, a top county school official said last week.

All school buildings in the county have been closely inspected by structural engineers within the past 10 years, according to Roger Mitchell, coordinator of school planning in the office of County Superintendent of Schools J. Russell Kent, and those found to be dangerous have either been torn down or rehabilitated.

Concern about earthquake safety of the county's schools and other government buildings was expressed yesterday at the meeting of the County Board of Supervisors.

"I have a feeling," said Supervisor Robert St. Clair, who brought up the subject, "that we have just been going along, keeping our fingers crossed that there won't be a major quake. We're gambling. We should at least ask what's being done."

St. Clair's feeling was strong as it pertains to schools, according to Mitchell's statement. Doubt remains about the earthquake safety of county government buildings, however.

"We could have problems in our own area," Chairman James V. Fitzgerald said of the county structures. "It is possible that there could be millions of dollars of work to do in our own area."

Fitzgerald explained later that he had no specific information that any county buildings are quake hazards and was only bringing up the possibility.

St. Clair cited concern over school safety in other counties. Yesterday a $32 million bond proposal for rebuilding substandard schools failed to pass in Oakland.

The supervisors agreed to ask Kent for a report, following a debate about whether it is any of their business. Fitzgerald, noting that school districts are autonomous agencies, took the position that the board would not be able to do anything about it even if the report from Kent showed that deficiencies existed. St. Clair insisted, however, that "the safety of all our residents is our responsibility."

In addition, the board asked the County Planning Commission for a report on the general subject of earthquake hazards in the county and asked County Manager M. D. Tarshes to report on what it would cost to survey the earthquake safety of county government buildings.

Mitchell said all local schools were examined following the disastrous Tehachapi earthquake a decade ago. All of those found to be hazardous, he said, have been either razed or rebuilt. A few structures condemned for use as classrooms have been converted to other school uses, he said.

In the last five years alone, he said, 22 classrooms in San Mateo were rehabilitated or rebuilt, two schools were demolished and rebuilt in Millbrae, a century-old school in Woodside, South School in Hillsborough was made a historical site, a was torn down and a new school classroom in Burlingame was built. The one remaining rehabilitation project, Mitchell said, is at Central School in San Carlos, which is about 75 per cent converted to other uses, and the old completed.

Post Office for Brisbane

It appeared today that the city of Brisbane will be able to claim the Brisbane Post Office as its own after all.

The city has been attempting, for the sake of civic pride, to annex the post office, which occupies rented quarters in the Crocker Industrial Park just outside the city limits.

The Local Agency Formation Commission approved the annexation on the condition that the site be de-annexed from the Guadalupe Valley (Crocker) Improvement District, to avoid double taxation. Crocker officials balked at the condition, however.

On Coffman's recommendation, the commission suggested that Brisbane ask the district to apply for withdrawal of the property from its jurisdiction.

YEAR-END ACTIVITIES at Skyline Elementary School in South San Francisco were highlighted recently by a student Art Fair. Chairman of the event was Mrs. Bruce Barichievich, who worked with Mrs. John Galea and Mrs. Beverly Saylor, a teacher at the school, to coordinate the proceedings.

Entries were divided into five categories, and the first, second, and third place winners in each were sculpture: Mark Barichievich, Gary Clark, Alan Barichievich; drawing: Allison Allen, Lisa DiRicco, Paula Salas; painting: Tim Hoey, Mark Bernardini, Nancy Knolle; Mosaic and Collage: Michael Hood, Marvin Allen, Mark Barichievich; and weaving: Nancy Knolle, Karen Coero, Elizabeth Newman.

The Art Fair drew many entries, and an attractive feature of the proceedings was the Art-in-Action demonstrations, in which selected young artists participated in many of the various art forms already on exhibit, enabling viewers to observe the processes involved.

Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

How would you like a recipe for a delicious entree that has eye appeal, taste appeal and is easy to make? Instead of "sugar and spice and everything nice," this is chicken and rice and everything nice.

CHICKEN A LA SAN DIEGO

- 1 cup uncooked rice
- 1 can cream of celery soup
- 1 can cream of chicken soup
- 1 package dried onion soup mix
- 1 can water
- 1 fryer chicken, cut-up

Cook the cup rice. While it's cooking combine the one can each of cream of celery and cream of chicken soup, the package onion soup and one can water. Heat thoroughly and let it simmer while you drain the rice and spread in a lightly greased 9x13-inch pan.

Pour one half the soup mixture over rice. Arrange the chicken pieces over rice and pour the remaining soups over all.

Bake uncovered in 350-degree oven approximately one hour and 15 minutes, or until chicken is tender.

AN ATTRACTIVE ACCOMPANIMENT to this chicken dish is a molded cranberry sauce salad.

CRANBERRY MOLD

- 2 pkg. cherry gelatin
- 2 cups boiling water
- one and two-thirds cups cold water
- 1 can whole cranberry sauce
- 1 cup sour cream

Mix the two packages gelatin with the two cups boiling water, stirring until completely dissolved. Add the one and two-thirds cups cold water and the can whole cranberry sauce, stir. Chill until thickened, stir in the one cup sour cream, mixing well. Chill until firm.

There are many varieties of apples in the markets these days, so why not combine apples with a rich and wholesome rolled oats topping for a tasty dessert?

APPLE CRUNCH

- 5 or 6 cooking apples
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 2 teaspoons nutmeg

Peel and slice the apples into bowl. Combine with the tablespoon lemon juice, fourth cup sugar, half teaspoon cinnamon and fourth teaspoon nutmeg and mix well. Pour into a 9x9-inch greased baking pan and top with crunch.

TOPPING

- One-third cup flour
- 1 cup rolled oats
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- One-third cup butter
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Combine the third cup flour, one cup rolled oats, half cup brown sugar, third cup butter and half teaspoon salt. Mix well and sprinkle over apples.

Bake in 350-degree oven about 45 minutes or until apples are tender.

Serve warm topped with either half and half, whipped cream or ice cream.

Second Anniversary for CSSA's Primrose House

It was "Happy Birthday" time for the "Primrose House of Values," on May 19, when the resale shop operated by the Catholic Social Service Auxiliary of San Mateo County celebrated its second anniversary.

An open house was held and many Auxiliary members and customers dropped in.

Funds from the shop are used to assist the Catholic Social Service Agency in its operation. This agency, established in 1943 and staffed by social workers well-qualified in counseling, helps individuals and families work out their personal problems. The Agency maintains offices at 20 North San Mateo Drive in San Mateo, 6705 Mission Street in Daly City and 403 Eighth Avenue in Menlo Park.

Mrs. Robert G. Flynn of San Mateo is manager of the shop, located at 307 Primrose Road, Burlingame.

Students attended a Junior Statesmen of America (JSA) Conference at San Carlos High School May 15.

The theme of the event was "America Where Are You Going?"

The students discussed social problems of our society such as Drug Abuse, the right of dissent, Women's Liberation, Racism, Justice, the draft and the new army, political ethics, student's rights, population control and pollution of our environment.

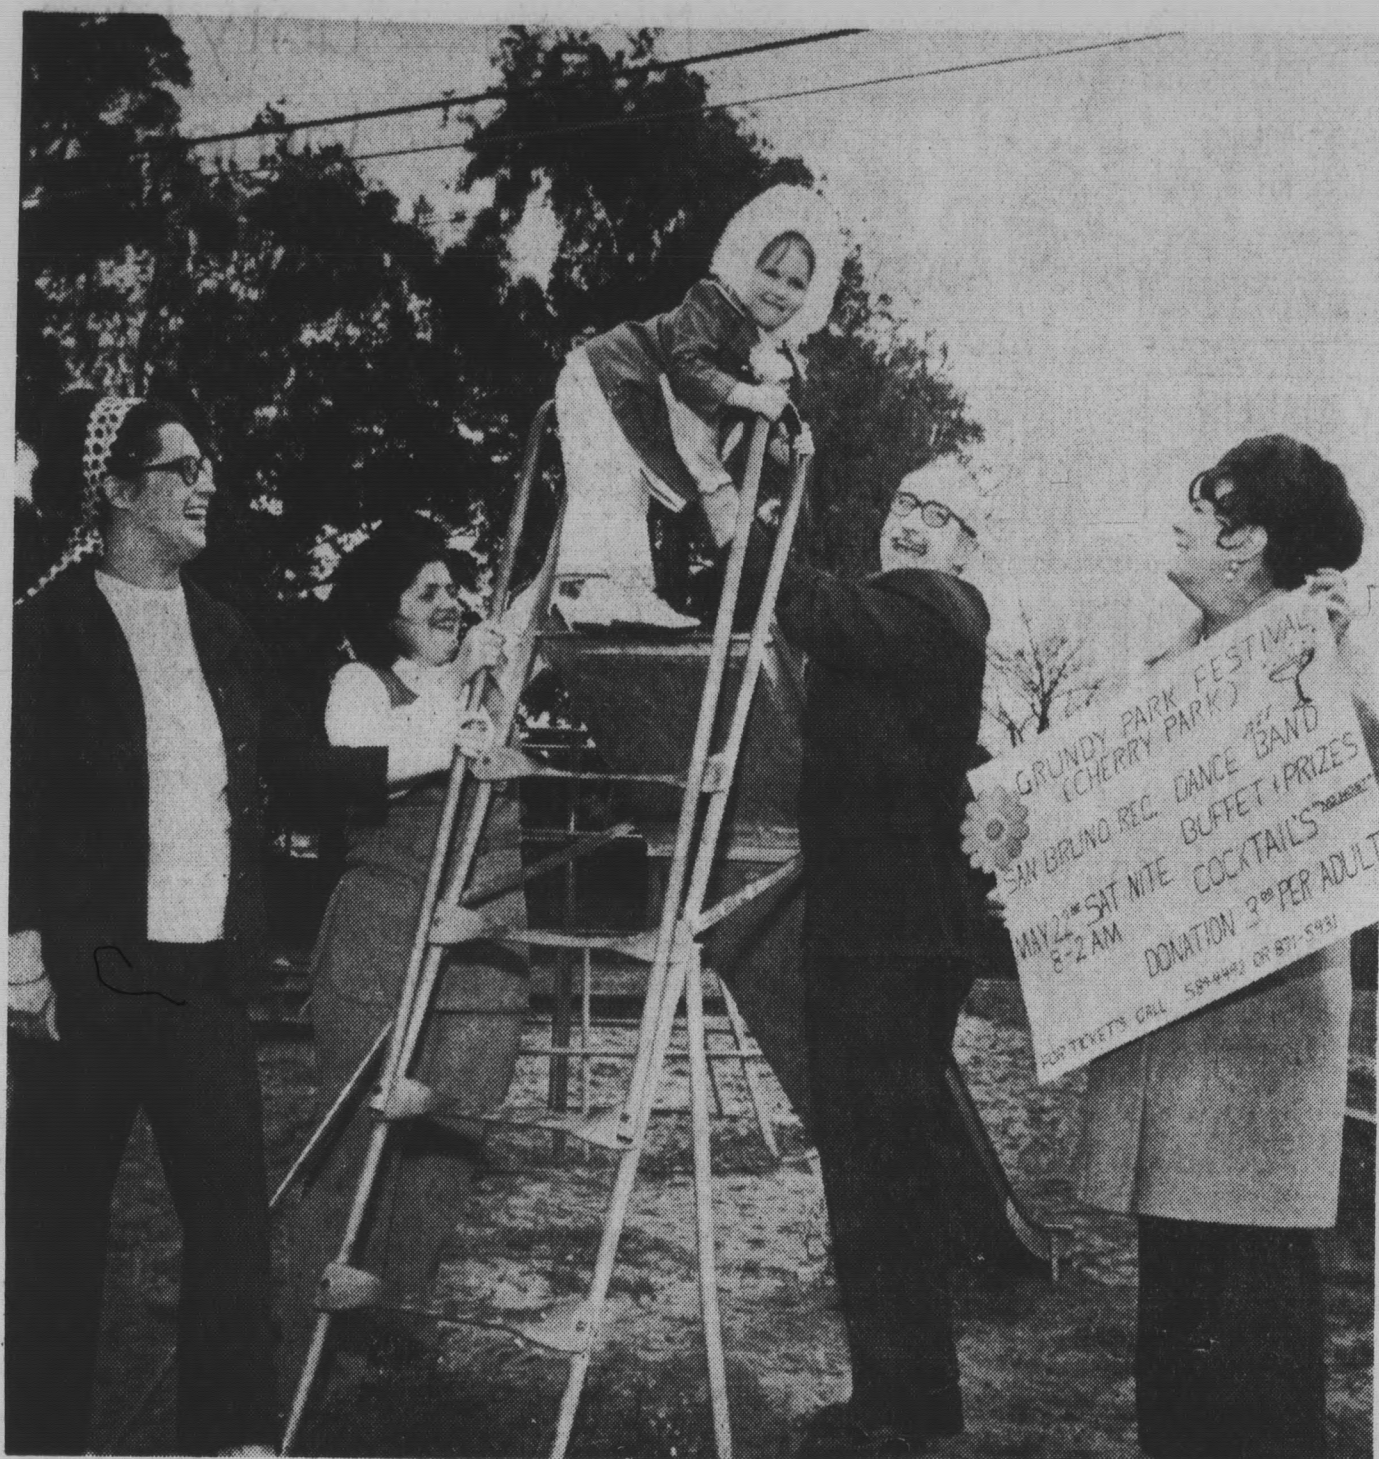

The students which included Linda Adreveno, Mark Molina, and Alex Senica enjoyed the conference and were encouraged to attempt to organize a club similar to the JSA next Fall.

The 12th Annual Model Senate convened in room 507 with Dr. Rudie Tretten presiding as President Protem of the Senate last week.

The students playing as senators roles, debated issues such as troop withdrawal, National Health Insurance, tax exemption reduction after 4th child, restrictions on the President's power of intervention, and the two secret bills, a plan for taking money away from NASA and placing it in HEW for cancer research and a proposal to convict people of using the words "kill that pig" when referring to the police.

It was fun for the senators to debate. The conservative side came out on top.

Advisors were Jeff Pulzner and Ken Sweeney. The student government class had a picnic May 18. Linda Adreveno made all of the preparations for food and Miss Schmidt and Jim Zylla assisted.

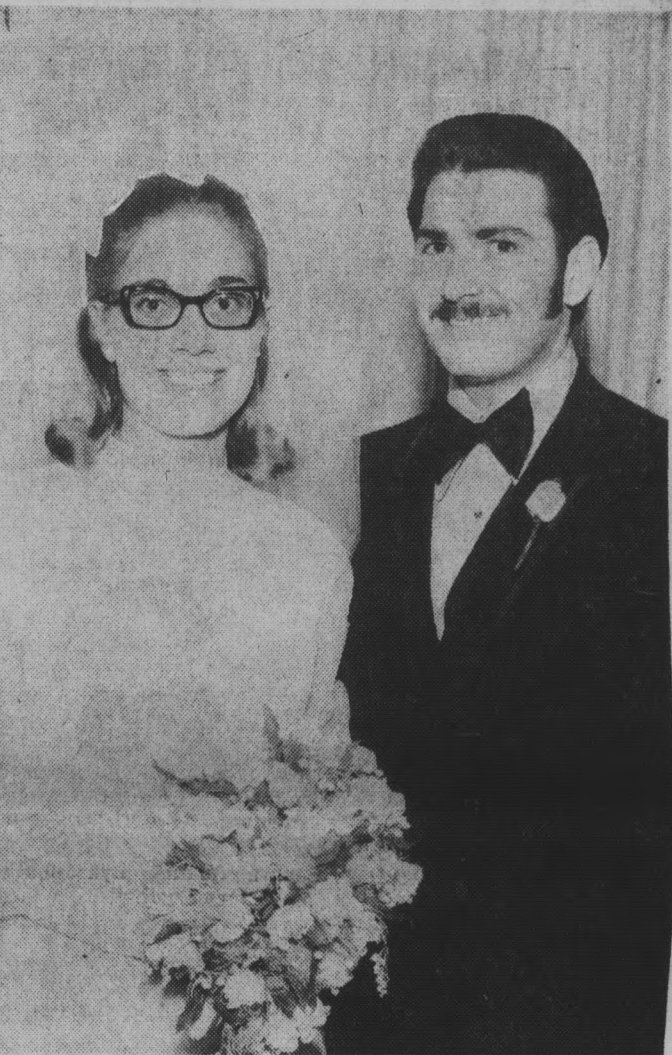

SO KIDS CAN PLAY — Neighbors of Grundy Park gather with San Bruno Mayor Maurice Hamilton to remind everybody that a dance (with combo) at the San Bruno Recreation Center last Saturday night helped provide funds to help fix up the run-down park. Left to right, Mrs. Louis Aliventi, 586 Cherry,

SEVERAL of the students who participated in dance recital are shown awaiting their turn to the first annual spring perform at the Daly City War Memorial Building. Mrs. Diane Simmons directed the event. Registration for summer classes as part of the Daly City Recreation Division program will be held June 14. (Starr Photo)

Millbrae Man to Claim Bride at June Rites

Patricia Lynne Neeland recently passed the traditional candle at the Delta Gamma sorority house at the University of California at Berkeley to disclose that she is the bride-elect of Steven Reyburn Johnson.

Pat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Neeland of Orinda, is a sophomore at UC.

Steven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Johnson of Millbrae, was graduated from UC where he was affiliated with Kappa Alpha fraternity. He received his MBA from San Jose State College and served two years in West Germany with the Army.

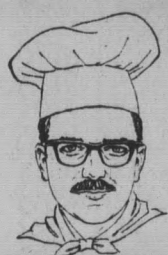

The couple plans a June wedding.

Holy Angels Church in Colma was the setting for the wedding of Catherine Ann Molinari, daughter of Mrs. Pierina Molinari of Daly City, and Richard George Grondona, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Grondona of San Bruno. The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law Ronald Grondona and attended by her sister, Angela Molinari. Richard asked James Gregoire to be his best man, and guests were seated by Albert Gregoire and Peter Ratto. A reception followed at the Millbrae Community Center. (Faulkner Photo)

Stretching The Dollar

The task of matching size and quality with price in today's supermarkets is Herculean. There has been much controversy in government and among consumer groups in recent years about outright deceit in labeling, packaging and pricing. But no one seems to be able to do much about it.

You can purchase, in many instances, a box of soap or can of beans marked "giant economy size" or "family pack" and actually pay more per ounce than for a smaller size. Add the variable of weekly sales on certain sizes and it's no wonder shoppers throw up their hands and toss any size, regardless of price, in the basket.

I was in a store a few weeks ago where a 10-ounce box of a certain product was selling for 39 cents and a 16-ounce box of the same product was 79 cents. In other words, if you bought the large box, you were paying 39 cents for the first 10 ounces and 40 cents for the other six. Just a mistake?

I think it may well be time for the much-discussed unit pricing concept (paying by the unit measure regardless of package size) to be initiated by the stores. If they care about their customers, they shouldn't be afraid to be completely open about everything they sell.

In the meantime, however, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, with somewhat limited powers in this field, tries to inform consumers about products that they can apply some sort of definition to.

For example, labels on canned ripe olives are required to carry an outline-picture of the approximate size of the olives in the can. In addition, the labels have to include a statement telling how many olives of that size are in the can.

When you're buying ripe olives, remember the size names represent the approximate number of olives per pound.

Small, select or standard have 135 per pound, medium — 113, large — 98, extra large or picnic — 82, mammoth or gem — 70, giant — 53 to 60, jumbo — 46 to 50, colossal — 36 to 40, super colossal — maximum of 32, and special super-colossal — 28 or fewer.

Some of the sizes may also be blended like:
Family: a blend of medium, large and extra large sizes, averaging not less than 91 or more than 105 olives per pound.

King: a blend of giant, jumbo and the smaller half of colossal, averaging not less than 45 or more than 53 per pound.

Royal: a blend of the larger half of colossal and super-colossal with no more than 34 olives per pound.

All California ripe olives are inspected twice by the USDA but unfortunately, when it comes to price, once again you're on your own.

The USDA also offers information on egg buying. For example, the grocer's sign reads: U.S. Grade A Extra Large, 64 cents; U.S. Grade A Large, 58 cents; U.S. Grade A Medium, 53 cents.

Which would you buy?
The size of the eggs are based on the minimum weight per dozen. Most retailers, however, stock only the three most plentiful sizes: extra large with 27 ounces per dozen; large with 24 ounces per dozen and medium with 21 ounces per dozen.

If there is less than a seven-cent price spread per dozen eggs between one size and the next smaller size in the same grade, the larger size is the better buy. For instance, at 64 cents per dozen, U.S. Grade A Extra Large eggs represent a better buy than the U.S. Grade A Large at 58 cents. And the large eggs at 58 cents would be a better buy than Medium eggs at 53 cents.

To decide whether to buy U.S. Grade AA, A or B consider how you will use the eggs. Whenever appearance counts, such as in poaching or frying, you should probably choose AA or A because they have firm, high yolks and high thick whites. For scrambling and general cooking or baking, Grade B will do just fine.

FRIENDS of the Daly City Library will sponsor a program, "What we can do to improve the ecology," at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Coral Room of the Westlake Public Library. A panel will include Atty. Paul Hupf, a library commissioner; August Conci, Daly City parks superintendent; Frank LaPierre, Post-Time reporter; and Al Teglia, Jefferson Union High School District Board of Trustees president and San Mateo Union High School District parks and grounds superintendent.

AIN'T TRUE — If you can believe Broadmoor Police Chief Ray Savage and his staff, recent rumors circulating the North County about his taking over the Colma police chief's post are fabrications. At a recent Colma council meeting (they DO have them), Savage was gavelled down by Mayor Ray Ottoboni when he informed them he did not want the job of chief for himself, but he couldn't quite see the mayor's son getting it until he had more experience. The silent majority of Colma incorporated finally coming alive??

DALY CITY'S FIREMEN just came out favoring Senate Bill 333 which would impose binding arbitration on city governments during budget time. Councils (backed by the might League of California cities) have issued a strong resolution condemning the bill.

They said it will take away their powers of bargaining with employees. Fire Local 1879 feels the bill would give them more muscle in salary talks. The outcome will be interesting, we predict.

JIMI JO ORMISBY, owner of the Craft Showcase up at Serramonte Shop Center, communicates very well with one of her employees — Eugenia Izguierdo Vargas of Chile. Considering J.J. doesn't speak Spanish and Miss Vargas can't understand English this appears to be quite a feat. The talented Chilean makes some 70 varieties of artificial flowers with paper and scissors. "Between hand signals and a lot of patience on both sides we manage to make ourselves understood," J.J. tells. Meanwhile Miss Vargas carries a small "How to Speak English" handbook.

THE SHADOW KNOWS that South City Councilman Patrick Ahern, staunch supporter of the city's firemen (and vice versa), has already made known his choice to replace fire chief John Marchi when the latter retires in a couple of years. The initials are J.M.

SPEAKING OF SOUTH CITY firemen, our Rumor Reporter down thataway claims the bulk of the department will be openly backing Terri Mirri for election to the council come April. Mirri was edged out during the last political circus in that city.

DALY CITY FLASH — City Attorney Albert Polonsky confessed he is afraid to tackle the Outer Limits Smutclub on Geneva for fear they might include the city in a harassment suit.

Part of the OL is in San Francisco and the other in Daly City. Neighborhood residents from both sides of the county line have been yelling their heads off about signs adorning exterior walls for months.

Still there and still nothing done. Polonsky said San Francisco was "proceeding diligently" along with the Alcoholic Beverage Commission to shut the place down. Time will tell.

McROBERT STEWART, Daly City councilman who is yet to have his name pronounced (announced???) right, did a bang-up job on informing the North County Council of Cities about pending legislation that applies to their communities. And in their usual bangup way the cities' representatives listened to Stewart's presentation and hastily moved to study the report and take later action. In the words of fellow Daly City Councilman Lou Papan: "Unless some sort of action is taken soon, the complexion of these bills will change."

SOME KID AIN'T too heavy in the brain dept. — Such as the one in South City that wrote his full name in some wet cement at the site of the new Rotary Plaza, a housing development for senior citizens. Faster than you can spell "graffiti" the police had 'em on the carpet.

TITLE CLAIM to Cynthia Rose (Cindy) Sargen was filed at 8:29 a.m., April 19 by prospectors Joan and Jim Sargen. Cindy weighed in at 8 pounds 11 ounces. Papa is the president of the Daly City (Colma???) Chamber of Commerce.

I WAS MISQUOTED by a Jeff Union High School District school principal at a public function the other night and I've been the abused recipient of calls since. I DID NOT say I "hated school kids" or even that I "envied" them. I SAID "What I envy about today's youth is their age."

MRS. KATE PICKETT, the city clerk of Williams, Calif., was down visiting her nephew, Rick Silver and decided to take in a Daly City council meet. That's not the story, here 'tis: Seems Kate has got a pretty enviable vote-getting record — more than 950 voter votes out of 1,000 registered.

SANDBAGGERS CORNER — The Riordan Men's Club held their annual tournament at Sonoma recently and it was no surprise when Daly City Policeman Bob Blazer blazed his way to first place with a 76 net. Nor did anyone become startled when officer Jim McHenry copped the hole-in-one contest. But police captain Richard Sims, considered to be a first rate officer, shot a disappointing 102. One observer was heard to comment, "If he could only shoot a gun that well." Sergeant Ralph Warren isn't saying what his final card read, only that he beat Red McGuire of Duffy's Tavern by eight strokes.

Proposed Textbooks to be Displayed

By SAMUEL CHANDLER
Daly City Librarian

There is a display in many of the Public Libraries of California that should be noticed by the parents of grade school children. In accordance with the Education Code of the State of California, textbooks that are being considered for adoption must be available for public inspection for 60 days in at least 50 libraries throughout the state. Presently, 11 titles in United States History for grades five through eight are so displayed and may be examined at the Daly City Public Library, Westlake Branch.

Parents will find that these books depict a trend in education away from teaching history as a series of events and dates. The authors seem more interested in exploring how men and women of the past felt and reacted, and how today's youngsters feel towards them.

Gone is the memorizing of names and places. Gone are chronological charts and pages of maps. In their place are transcripts of documents and hundreds of pictures. This new approach to history is explained in the book, The Americans.

"This history book is different from ones you have used in the past. In it you will find many kinds of writing, such as stories, letters, newspaper articles, and biographies. You will find also many illustrations, such as pictures, graphs, charts and maps."

Each piece of writing and each illustration has been chosen carefully to add something to what you know about yourself and about your nation.

Studying history for the express purpose of coming to know yourself seems to give the authors license to interpret history as they please and to cut down the importance of some characters and events while magnifying others. For example in "The Americans," Dred Scott who appeared for one brief moment in history, receives as much mention as Chief Justice Roger B. Taney who conducted the court that ruled in the case involving Scott.

That Taney presided over the court during many of the country's most formative years is not mentioned.

In the Americans some shifts in emphasis are unwarranted. No mention is made of the Spanish in California, or the Conquest of Texas but the western migration of a few Negroes covers two pages. The tribulations of the Donner Party covers three pages, but there seems to be no mention of Lewis and Clark or of the Oregon Trail or of the Mormon pioneers or limit the ability of the board in making other cuts. Small economies can help, but they would have to be augmented by sterner measures to achieve appreciable reductions and reverse the too easily accepted notion that annual budget boosts are normal and to be expected.

Effective cuts have to come from capital outlays, from the elimination of services not vitally needed, from the closure of duplicate facilities, and cutbacks in jobs and payrolls either by attrition or outright reductions in force.

These are certain to be unpopular methods, but if the county budget is to be a popularity contest it can be guaranteed that tax cuts will be highly popular with the great majority of the county's taxpayers.

If the supervisors are truly minded to turn the tax tide they will need the support of every citizen to offset the pressures that will come, weeping and wailing, from special interest groups and those who have pet projects.

Budget hearings have been notoriously neglected in San Mateo County by the taxpayers, although the special interest and pet project people usually put in appearances to speak up for what they want, or to reiterate presentations they have already made.

Those who want to put heart in the supervisors for a rollback in taxes should make their sentiments known now, and back them up by attending the budget hearings when they start on June 16.

A man stands in the corner with a mass of dark clay. He moulds, presses and forms the clay — and ever so gradually, the shape of his efforts emerges.

Another man asks — "Is that a horse?"

"Oh no — it's no horse."

"Well if it isn't a horse, what is it?"

"It's a thing."

And as time goes on, the clay changes. A long neck, topped by the angle of a horse's head, appears. Horse-like ears are shaped, and another man states:

"That's a very fine horse you're making."

"That's no horse."

"What is it?"

"It's a different kind of animal — it's definitely not a horse."

Still more time, and still more horse. Horse's legs, withers, and finally the full shape of a horse head. By this time, the horse has attracted a great deal of attention, and the man who has spent many hours making the horse is confronted by a reporter.

"We continue to hear reports that you have been making a dark horse"

"Those reports are all false

— I am definitely not making a horse."

"If it were alive, it could gallop off right this moment."

"It's not a horse and was not meant to be a horse, and I resent the suggestion that this is a horse."

"Oh," said the reporter, "I will report that — it obviously isn't a horse. Thank you, Mr. Gardner."

And Mr. Gardner turned and kept working on his horse — his dark horse, if you will. The horse is a little different than most horses — there is room for many riders. Ecology, the war, welfare, school issues — there is room for all of them and more. And as for people — Mr. Gardner has a special place right up near the front of the horse for himself. But as you look toward the rear, there is plenty of space for anyone who wants to get on; Democrats, Independents and Republicans. There is a place for Congressmen, Senators, Governors, and others.

John Gardner claims Common Cause is not a political party, and he and his people can get quite annoyed and angry with anyone who says it is. But Common Cause has many of the ingredients of a political party, and the clay horse could breathe and catch life if the circumstances were just right. Some of the circumstances are currently right.

It began with Kevin Phillips and his preoccupation with a conservative coalition. Who were to be coalesced? Phillips anticipated Republicans plus middle-class Democrats and Independents. The arrow obviously pointed toward the laboring man, and the political thrust later became identified with the pursuit of the hard hat vote.

But the hard hats, as a symbol of organized labor, were the traditional captive of the Democratic Party. In recent years, they and their wives had voted strongly for Republicans, but had done so in a disorganized way. Rather than any visible effort to move a block of voters, Republican candidates had entered the homes of labor in suburbia and also in the old big cities by television, radio and the print media. This kind of reach was hard for organized labor to contest. There was no top focal point to argue with, nor was there any real declaration that the labor vote was being sought. Republican candidates just began doing things that attracted labor and bagged a large number of votes.

But the Phillips thrust had to be answered by labor moguls as it ran right to the top and to the power of labor leadership. The result has been seen in George Meany's drive for recapture of organized labor as a voting force. Along with George Meany, Democratic candidates, such as Scoop Jackson and Hubert Humphrey, and even Ted Kennedy, to a degree, have been putting on their own ideological hard hats and reaching for the swing vote.

But what about the people who aren't hard hatted at all? Kevin Phillips cavalierly suggested they leave the Republican Party, and if George Meany succeeds in controlling the Democratic Party, where do they go? In such an event, John Gardner's creation could fill the void, and only recently has either party responded.

Richard Nixon's initiatives of this spring placed him in an ideological position to attract many of these voters, but his political organization is less mobile and remains emotionally attracted to hardhatism. Muskie, Bayh and McGovern seem to be intellectually compatible with Common Cause concepts, but they seek the Democratic nomination and may be forced to make fatal compromises with Mr. Meany. Besides, they may not be nominated.

The denouncement will occur at the time of the 1972 Democratic convention. Should George Meany succeed in forcing through a ticket such as Humphrey-Jackson, or should he capture the devotion of the winner, a large part of the Democratic Party may be prepared to walk out.

Mrs. Gardner's horse will be waiting, probably right outside the convention hall of the Democratic Party. Then the horse could snort, come to life and begin to gallop. But Mr. Gardner will be able to remain faithful to his claim that Common Cause as such is not the vehicle.

IT WAS a fine weekend for an art show — and students from mid-county high schools made the most of it in Burlingame. At an "Art in the Park" festival at that city's Washington Park, young people displayed their wares, listened to contemporary music and lolled about in the bright sunshine. Arts and crafts created by local youth were shown at the fete which continued from Saturday through Sunday. One of the demonstrations was by Mike Carr (center) of Millbrae who worked on his pottery exhibit during the two-day affair. Mike is a student at San Bruno's Capuchino High School. He is a member of the school's art club. As youngsters observed some of the Cap students' work, others danced and sang on the shaded lawn area of the park.

'It's the Noisy Noise That Annoys'

Some wag once said "it's the noisy noise that annoys." This was weak as wit, but it qualifies for truth. The State Department of Health has come up with a definition of noise as, simply, unwanted sound in varying degrees of intensity. It will probably surprise jet noise sufferers to learn that jet plane blasts are not the greatest source of noise offense to the greatest number of people.

That doubtful honor is reserved for the noises emitted by motor vehicles. The scientific basis for that statement was developed by a study made by the state health experts with the advisory assistance of a committee of 20 scientists, businessmen and government representatives.

San Mateo County folk who live near busy freeways, or who have been roused from sleep by the staccato racket of motorcycles, could have provided the same information without need for a committee. But they may appreciate having their opinions confirmed by the state which made 13 legislative recommendations that include a continuation of the study and vehicle code changes that would sharply restrict truck, motorcycle and passenger car noise by 1978.

Among these are recommendations that, by 1978, all new trucks and buses weighing 6000 pounds, or more, should emit no more than 80 decibels of noise and that all vehicles of lesser weight be restricted to 75 decibels as determined by a standard test.

Trucks and motorcycles are presently permitted to make 88 decibels and other vehicles 96. In case the recommended reductions do not seem very much, they are really several-fold greater than the numerical values indicate. On the decibel scale a reduction of three decibels represents a 50 percent reduction in noise.

Four trucks producing 80 decibels each, together make much less noise than one truck producing 88 decibels; one motorcycle producing 88 decibels makes more noise than 16 motorcycles producing 75 decibels each.

For the consolation of those troubled by jet planes, the health department urges that "Noise Standards for California Airports," as adopted by the State Department of Aeronautics, should become effective in December and will cut noise levels near airports.

Students Honored

Brunswick Street, No. 2, Daly City.

Karen ranks third in the 1971 graduating class at Jefferson and has been active in student activities during her four years at the school. A member of the Pow Wow Club, she has also been a pompon girl for two years.

She is a member of the Model Senate and plans to attend CSM before transferring to a four-year college.

Patricia Francisco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vic Francisco, 32 Woodrow, Daly City.

Patricia is the fourth ranking student in the 1971 graduating class at Jefferson. She has distinguished herself in a variety of activities.

This year Patricia is the Jefferson Mascot, chairman of the Senior Ball, on the staff of the Yearbook, student aide in the PE Department and Secretary of her class, to name a few.

Patricia plans to enroll at CSM before transferring to San Francisco State where she plans to major in physical education.

Selected from Serramonte High School are:

Rochelle Wolf (Salutatorian), daughter of Mrs. Mildred Wolf, 862 Skyline Drive, Daly City.

Rochelle was awarded the "Best Staffer of the Year" award from the San Mateo Times in 1969, her sophomore year. She was very active in journalism matters and speech contests during her sophomore and junior years.

Rochelle has also been a "Big Sister" in the San Francisco Youth for Service Program, which, she said, gave her "great experience." She now works for the Pacific Telephone Company as an operator.

She plans to attend the University of California at Santa Cruz after graduation.

Katie Herald (Valedictorian), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Herald, 98 Northgate Avenue, Daly City.

Katie is Rally Commissioner at Serramonte and has held the post of Pep Girl and, this year, Treasurer of the Junior Class.

She intends to matriculate to the University of California, Davis, and start studies in the life sciences.

Bowman Ching (Outstanding Senior Boy), son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale C. Ching, 290 Frankfort Street, Daly City.

Bowman was a member of the school's marching band in his freshman year. During his junior year he was named "Boy of the Month" by the Exchange Club.

Again in his senior year, Bowman was presented with the same "Boy of the Month" honor by the Exchange Club.

In addition he was the fall class vice president, student representative to the County Youth Conference on Human Relations Planning Committee, CSF Life Member and Project Concern.

Bowman has also participated in several activities including "Walk for Mankind."

He hopes to enter Stanford University or UC Berkeley in the fall and major in physics.

Cathy Bradish (Outstanding Girl Student) is the daughter of Mrs. Jennie Bradish, 828 North Mayfair Avenue, Daly City.

Cathy was the class president in her sophomore year and represented her school in the Santa Clara Math Contest. In her junior year, Cathy was active in several projects, including Walk for Mankind.

She coordinated the Junior Prom and snow trips for the school. She again attended the Santa Clara Math Contest this year.

During the fall and spring semesters she was Senior class president. Cathy expects to attend the University of California at Santa Cruz and major in community studies and psychology.

Man, 71, Dies

A 71-year-old South San Francisco man died, apparently of a heart attack, while driving his car in that city Saturday.

Police said Edward J. Young, of 98 Kearny Street, was traveling on Hillside Boulevard when he stopped the car and slumped over the wheel.

The auto then rolled into a parked vehicle, police said.

Nine Portable Rooms Sought for Schools

Two Jefferson Union High School District schools need portable classrooms to accommodate increased enrollments next year, Supt. Edward Morgan told trustees last week.

The board authorized the administration to advertise for bids on nine portable units, three for Terra Nova High School in Pacifica and six for the two-year-old Serramonte School in Daly City.

Morgan said the Terra Nova portables would be used for mechanical drawing, shop and a teachers' room.

Serramonte enrollment is expected to jump from about 1,200 pupils to 1,445 next year. Additionally, the principal has planned some space reassignments in the building, which was designed specifically for its modular-schedule curriculum.

Trustees appeared reluctant to approve the bid call in the absence of more detailed study by the board of the Serramonte request.

The board was assured that despite the call for bids it would not be committed to actually purchase the units.

Trustees also approved the calling of bids on a new school bus.

20 Leaders to be Feted

The Daly City Chapter of the NAACP will host the 20 presidents of the organization's Northern Area on June 4-5.

The conference will be held at the Lincoln Park Clubhouse at Brunswick and Acton Streets, where the local president, Mrs. Madge Bradstreet, said she may be contacted at 4 p.m., Sunday by citizens who wish to offer their help.

His Poor Attitude...

IF YOU'RE ONE OF THOSE advocates of the so-called simon pure approach to athletics (i.e., play for the pure fun of it, enjoy the competition but don't be eaten alive by it, etc.), and if you consider America too rough on its athletes who fail, too overzealous and fanatical, consider a recent dispatch from Tokyo by Chronicle Foreign Service correspondent Michael Berger.

Berger tells of an athlete quitting a karate club and being accidentally beaten to death by club members because of his poor attitude; and of the high school ruby player who collapsed of exhaustion during training and was beaten and tortured by team members because they evidently felt he was "jacking." (American term for "gold brick".)

Although participants in such incidents are apparently almost always punished for their actions, Berger reports that such incidents are not isolated.

Short-haired young sports club members (ages 8 to 12), it seems, are obsessed with the glorification of "konjo"—guys, American version.

If that dispatch shocks you, it doesn't at all surprise us. We just hope they don't begin handing these "Konjo" kids airplanes with no landing gear.

IF YOU'RE COMPELLED, at this point in the season, to yell, "Yeh, I told ya so," about the fall of the Dodgers and the rise of the Giants (Note: we did a pre-season column about the Dodgers' awesome array of raw talent), allow us to remind you that we neither picked the Dodgers to win the pennant, nor did we pick the Giants not to win the pennant. As a matter of fact, we don't think there has been a more loyal Giant booster columnist in the Bay Area, and even if we don't always pick the Giants (if you'll recall, we never pick ANYBODY because we hardly ever believe in the playing sports swami), we always root for them. As for the Dodgers, our one negative pre-season note about them was that, "ironically, pitching could be the Dodgers' biggest problem this year." And that is exactly what their biggest problem is.

Despite Richie Allen's disappointing hitting, the relative unproductiveness of Duke Sims' bat (there were the two off-season acquisitions which were supposed to bring the Dodgers the power they had been deprived of since their Brooklyn days), the incapacity of Billy Grabarkewitz, last year's offensive leader, and the slow start of Wes Parker, the Dodgers haven't been hurting for offense, standing third in the league in hitting, and running a steady three-four in the NL in runs scored. And they certainly haven't lost any of their phenomenal speed, nor has their defense embarrassed them.

What has been mediocre, to say the best, has been their pitching, just as we mentioned that it might be. Last time we looked, their staff ERA was somewhere around eighth in the league. So, yeh to you, too.

ON THE OTHER HAND, you smart statistics watchers out there could make a case for hitting being a more important factor than many experts believe, and pitching (Please See Page 16, Column 1)

SSF Ends Confusion in NPL

By JERRY LITRELL

That jumbled, confusing, maddening 1971 North Peninsula League baseball race is finally over with not four, not three, not two but only one conference champion — the South San Francisco Warriors.

Faced with a do-or-die situation on May 18 in their final conference outing of the year, the Warriors came through with a 5-0 decision over the Oceana Sharks and coupled with second place Terra Nova's 7-4 loss to Westmoor the victory meant the league title for Bob Brian's lads.

Third place Half Moon Bay lost its mathematical chance at the title when El Camino posted a 4-0 decision over the Cougars. Jefferson bested Serramonte, 5-2, in the final day's action. Right-handers Pete Enea and Rick Haagstrom combined for a seven-hit shutout for the Warriors. Enea got the win with five innings of scoreless ball and Haagstrom mopped up the final two frames.

SSF got three in the first when Brad Dahl and Hank Love singled before Pat Tolentino walked to load the bags. Dennis Yamamoto's infield grounder was mishandled allowing two runs to score before Rick Linamen singled in the third run. Dahl's solo homer added another run in the fifth before Art Olson's single and Enea's follow-up safely added the final tally.

Westmoor, which many counted to be a title contender this year, made the last game a memorable one knocking off the Pacifica contenders. Brad Casey came through with his second impressive performance going the distance against the Tigers on a six-hitter.

Westmoor got up 4-0. A single by Ted Grey, an infield out, a stolen base and Brad Kearns' squeeze bunt plated the first run. Singles by Gary Stoller and Rich Cardera (one of his three hits) made it 3-0 in the first. Kearns hit a solo homer in the third before Terra Nova made its four-run rally.

Singles by Mike Myers and Al Saisi and a walk to Steve Humphrey loaded the bags for TN, allowing Bud Papadakis' single to score two before an infield error tallied two more Tiger runs.

Westmoor came back with a three-run sixth, however, on singles by Cardera, Casey, Grey and Dave Riley.

Rick Green needed last inning relief help but still pitched an excellent game in blanking the HMB Cougars. Striking out five and making HMB hit his pitches all day, Green tired in the seventh, allowed the first two men to get on base before Tom Horvath came in to throw a double-play ball to kill the threat.

HMB suffered through a nightmarish first inning which meant the game. With runners on second and third and one out, faulty base running on a routine infield grounder meant tagging both those runners out, killing the Cougar rally. Then, with EC batting in the first, an infield error and a dropped outfield fly allowed the Colts to plate three runs.

Dave Bias capped his Colt career with a perfect three-for-three including a tremendous solo home run in the third inning.

BIKE RACE—A bike rally, called "Tour de San Bruno," will be held June 5, according to Rod Mrsny, a member of the Sierra Club and rally organizer. Event will start at Crestmoor High School, San Bruno, at 10 a.m., and will traverse a 10-mile course. Participants must be at least 12 years old. Mrsny, of 2380 Rosewood Drive, San Bruno, may be contacted for details. Pictured (left to right) Dan Comaoto with trophy and Rod Mrsny and Kathy Erbes on bikes. (Starr Photo)

His Poor Attitude...

being a weaker factor than most experts know.

Take, for instance, Cincinnati, a fine all-around club last year, but a club which, nevertheless, lived on hitting.

This season, the Reds have been getting decent pitching and defense, but the wreckers of last year are, as this is written, eighth in the NL in hitting, fifth in homers, and eighth in runs scored. And way out of the pennant race.

And then there's Baltimore, certainly not out of the race, but having a helluva time catching the Red Sox. Last year's AL's all-around best hitting club is getting good pitching and defense, as usual, but they are eighth in hitting, fifth in HR's, only fourth in runs scored.

BUT THEN THE REDS and Orioles could always be Cleveland, the portrait of a loser this year. The Indians are last in the Eastern Division of the American League, winning only about one of every three games, are last in the majors in hitting, last in the AL (second to last in majors) in total hits, next to last in the AL (third in majors) in runs scored, tenth in the league in doubles, eleventh in homers, and tied for first in the majors in games being shut out. Their pitching is even more impressive: last in the AL (second to last in majors) in team ERA, leading the majors in walks allowed, and the staff to this point, has completed only one game.

How did that genius, Alvin Dark, ever win a pennant with the Giants?

SUDDEN THOUGHTS: Why is it that so many managers seem to be more patient with a spectacular but erratic player than a steady one?

For instance, let the erratic guy have a four-for-four day, including two homers, six RBI's, and two spectacular catches, and many managers will stick with that guy, waiting for another such spectacular day (that may never come), until he loses them two or three games in a row with his poor play.

But the steady guy, the kind who has to be seen daily for a long period of time to truly appreciate the subtlety of his contributions, plays two games, goes hitless, and may never get back in the lineup.

Wouldn't it be a terrible irony if the Giants got so far in front that their winning bored the fans and they stopped showing up in droves, and poor loyal, patient, Horace Stoneham ended up with the same attendance figures he's had to endure since 1967?

Attendance figures can be misleading

Judo Teams Win in Sacramento

The Northern California Judo Black Belt Association held its Annual Judo Team Championships in Sacramento and the Daly City Recreation Division and the Koyukan Judo Club combined efforts to enter four teams. Two of the teams placed first in their division, one second and one third.

The seven man all "dojo" team, captained by Larry Gill of Daly City, blasted the last remaining team in their division (Sacramento) 50 points to 20. His team was made up of Jim Bonner, white belt; Ron Janero, Intermediate purple; Pete Hanes, Intermediate white; Ron Ventura, green belt; Horace Scott, Junior white belt. Mitchell Palacio, 1971 United States National High School 165 pound Champion was the black belt on

Larry's team. In the 12 years old and under division, the Daly City team, captained by John Gowen, also placed first. His team consisted of Eddie Dang, Bob O'Connor, Greg Curtis and Horace Scott. The 16 years old and under purple belt division captained by David Moore took second place. Team members included David Ross, Shiro Matsu, Ron Ljanero and Seichi Matsu. The 12 year old green belt team captained by David Taylor came in third. His team included Ron Ventura, Michael Perkins, Sam Totor and Tom Excalante. The Daly City Recreation Division judo team is supervised by Mickey Corso and coached by Ben Palacio. The Koyukan Judo Club is also coached by Ben Palacio and his son Mitchell. Instructors include George York, William Matsu, Doris Bogdanoff, Randy Hooper.

Hillsdale vs. South S.F. '9' on Friday

By CHRIS STAVE

Hillsdale High School athletes finished doing on Friday what they began last fall — standing the Mid-Peninsula League sports world on its ear.

The Knights had already won titles in football, basketball and gymnastics. All that remained was baseball.

And Neal Dahlen's lads took care of that on Friday afternoon, whipping top contender Burlingame 4-3 in extra innings to clinch the title.

The next step for the Knights is the Central Coast Section Region I playoff against South San Francisco this Friday afternoon at Burlingame's Washington Park.

Capuchino closed out its season on Friday with a 4-3 extra-inning win over San Mateo. Kevin Forde went all the way to win.

Terry Ruggles opened the eighth for Cap with a double. He worked his way to third and came home on Mike McDonald's single. Frank Dove singled and John Bomba went in to run for him. Steve Bybee singled to score McDonald. Bomba came home on an error for the win.

Mike Doerner Rec Aide

Michael Doerner has been appointed assistant superintendent of recreation in San Bruno.

Doerner is a graduate of Boston University and has resided in Los Angeles for the past nine years.

His professional background also includes city-wide work with teens, crafts, sports and civic organizations. He is a Registered Recreator with the California Parks and Recreation Society.

Mike resides in San Bruno with his wife, Phyllis, and daughter, Lisa.

Memorial Day Field Mass By Knights

The annual Memorial Day Field Mass by the Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, will be Monday at Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno. The mass is scheduled to be celebrated at 9 a.m. at the altar at the foot of the flag pole. The ceremony will be attended by the Fourth Degree color guard and representatives from all branches of the Armed Forces stationed in the Bay Area. The public is invited.

Girl Finds Loaded Gun

The ten-year-old daughter of a Jefferson Elementary School Trustee found a loaded .38 pistol on a Daly City street Wednesday. Lisa Forrester turned the gun over to her parents, who reported to police. The child was walking along 87th Street when she found the loaded gun in front of a private residence. The girl said she accidentally discharged the weapon once.

$1,000,000 Construction Set at Airport

More than $1,000,000 worth of construction at San Francisco International Airport was approved on May 18 by the city's Airports Commission.

A high-speed exit taxiway from Runway 19-left, to accommodate wide-bodied jets such as the Boeing 747, will be built at a cost of $52,000.

Another $589,730 will be spent to support the big planes on an aircraft parking area near Rotunda A. This contract was awarded to Lowrie Paving Company of South San Francisco, the lowest among seven bidders. In addition, the Commission approved a supplemental appropriation request for $46,350, to begin a study of long-range runway and taxiway requirements at the airports.

Director of Airports James K. Carr said the $520,000 taxiway would be financed from money already available, but that Commission approval, and approval of the city's Board of Supervisors and Mayor, was necessary before going ahead.

He said the new taxiway is designed to hurry the bigger jets off the active runway, so that following traffic may proceed to land or take off.

San Bruno Wins Land Fight

San Bruno won out over Millbrae Wednesday in a fight over some tax-rich San Francisco-owned land adjoining International Airport and destined for development in airport-oriented uses.

The local Agency Formation

Commission placed the bulk of the property, a strip adjoining Bayshore Freeway on the west, in San Bruno's "sphere of influence."

"Spheres" are being established for all cities to guide commission action on future annexation proposals.

On the recommendation of Executive Officer B. Sherman Coffman, the commission split the property at San Juan Avenue, leaving Millbrae with only a narrow sliver of land south of that line.

A delegation of Millbrae city officials, headed by Mayor James O'Connor, argued in vain for a larger slice of the land. They contended that some 190 acres of the San Francisco property actually drains into Millbrae. O'Connor called Coffman's recommendation "unjust and unfair" and said Santa Lucia Avenue would be a "more logical" dividing line.

O'Connor told the commission that he feared that giving all of the land north of San Juan to San Bruno would cut off Millbrae's last chance for another access to Bayshore Freeway.

Leo Van Dusen, acting city manager of San Bruno, said his city would cooperate with Millbrae on the access problem. He told the commission that San Bruno has the municipal facilities to serve the area in question.

George F. Hansen, deputy director of airports for operations and maintenance, said San Francisco favors annexation to San Bruno and is ready to proceed with annexation upon establishment of the sphere.

Coffman said plans call for on and off ramps from the freeway to connect to Rollins Road, which will be constructed down the center of the San Francisco-owned property. A two-lane bridge is to be constructed over the freeway south of the Hilton Inn, connecting airport terminals with Rollins Road.

Journalism Teachers Win Awards

Two former San Jose State journalism graduates have been presented with certificates of award for outstanding journalism instruction.

Samuel N. Goldman, journalism director at Skyline College, was presented a certificate of award for outstanding journalism teaching at the college level by J. Hart Clinton, editor and publisher of the San Mateo Times, at a dinner meeting attended by nearly 100 San Mateo County teachers, students and Times staffers at the Villa Chartier Wednesday night.

Goldman was nominated for the award of the CNPA by The Times. He is known by many of his associates as the "wildest journalism teacher in the West."

Robert C. Quinlan, director of journalism, San Mateo High School, is winner of the 1970 California Newspaper Publishers' Association outstanding journalism high school faculty member award certificate for the year.

He was nominated also by The Times for the honor.

Crowds at Circle Star Delightful

An examination of the first eleven weeks of operation by Chicago-based operators of the Circle Star Theater indicate they are delighted with community response and will continue with long range plans to keep the theater alive.

Manager Jim Waters says business is good. Sammy Davis, Jr., because of his popularity, combined with the reopening of the theater was the biggest seller at the box office. Next came Liberace, back in his fifth stance there and Dionne Warwick who hadn't played these parts in eight years.

Incidentally, it was during her engagement here that her astrologer recommended she add another letter to her name to ensure her a successful career. It has been officially changed with an added "e."

Gerald Kaufman, along with Sammy Davis, are partners in the operation. They hold a two-year lease on the building with an option to buy the property. It is almost positive they will exercise this option by December.

There has been talk that musicals will begin in the summer but contrary to rumors, Lana Turner has not been signed to do "Forty Carats." Waters contends that they need "a really strong musical with a very big name star" to pull in the business and Civic Light Opera ties up all the big Broadway musicals for their Curran Theater season.

"We've had a real cross section of audiences. Not any special types. The differences show up in the nightly bar receipts. We got the non-drinkers for Sergio Mendes and the big boozers for Don Rickles. That's what we hoped for; a wide diversity of acts to please all tastes," he said.

The current season has another month to go with Jack Benny slated on June 15 to 20. The celebrity series opens on September 1. The Fifth Dimension is due in November. Leslie Uggams, Phyllis Diller and possibly a return of Geln Campbell who was this season's only cancellation will follow.

They've had good response for their Children's Theatre which is currently presenting "Tom Sawyer" and for teenagers, they've booked two new rock groups who have never played the West Coast before, "Bread" and "Kyle" on June 5 at 6:30 and 9:30 p.m.

It is possible they'll bring in one night stands during July and August for a rock group concert. Waters is considering one night stands for popular recording artists such as Neil Diamond and John Stewart.

"We're still feeling our way with Peninsula and Bay Area audiences. We want to give them what they want and can see that people are not afraid to drive distances to come here," he said.

"There is nothing definite but if good business continues, we may consider opening a third (their first is Mill Run Theater in Chicago) such theater in Southern California, perhaps West Covina.

"Along with audience encouragement, we've had wonderful rapport with the acts. We go out of our way to make it nice for them, arranging limousine service, hotel accommodations (most of them stay at the Royal Coach Motor Hotel in San Mateo), golf links privileges, shopping, tickets to Marine World and sporting events.

"Tony Bennett wanted to hire our sound man away and Sammy Davis wanted our driver, Oscar Jones to travel with him. They have a nice lounge to greet their friends in after the show and we put flowers in the dressing rooms and hotel suites. Many of the stars have said it's one of the nicest theaters they have ever played.

"The managers used to have a predetermined idea their people would lose intimacy from playing in the round. That's all changed now and we're getting calls from agents who want to play here."

There is no doubt that Circle Star Theatre is here to stay.

S.S.F. Man Is Beaten

A South San Francisco man is in satisfactory condition at Peninsula Hospital today after apparently being beaten May 1.

South, San Francisco police said they received a call about 10:30 p.m. from a doctor saying Andrew Malarky, 22, of 658 Third Lane, was in the hospital with multiple cuts and possible head injuries.

Police said they are still investigating the incident.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Carl Ward Testimonial Dinner Thursday, May 27

A testimonial dinner honoring Carl Ward, San Mateo civic leader, on his retirement after 47 years with Wells Fargo Bank is expected to draw more than 1,000 persons to the Thunderbolt Hotel in Millbrae, Thursday, May 27. Ward, recently re-elected to the San Mateo Junior College district board of trustees, is now in his fifteenth year of service to the college. He has served as treasurer for more than a score of civic organizations, charitable appeals and other drives for improvement of the community and the county. He was one of the organizers of the San Mateo Boys' Club. A scholarship in his name is being created at the College of San Mateo and proceeds will be contributed to that fund which will benefit needy students unable to pay expenses to attend college. A contribution of $15 to the San Mateo Junior College Scholarship Foundation, Carl E. Ward Fund, includes a complimentary ticket to the dinner. The contribution is a deductible tax item. Tickets may be secured from Theodore Blumberg, chairman, 205 Park Road, Burlingame.

SPEEDY RECOVERY — Popular Tony Licata, manager of Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant, with his father, Vince, has been confined to Mills Hospital. Bright Lights and all of Tony's friends wish him a speedy recovery and a quick return to restaurant duty.

Low Lehr Relaxes A Rule

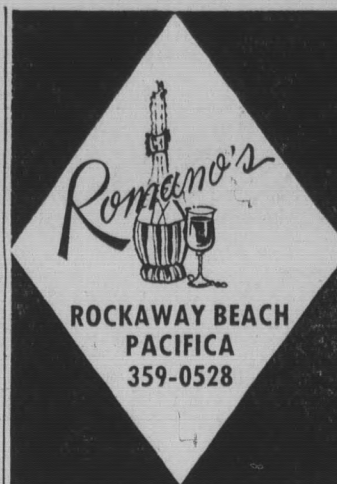

For the first time in 13 years, Low Lehr relaxed his rule on dining without jackets in his Steak House, in San Francisco's Marina district. Low made an exception and served four exhausted Narcotic Squad men dressed in waterfront-type clothes following their raid the confiscated $1 million worth of marijuana on a yacht outside the Golden Gate. Pacifica's Nick Gust is an astounding businessman! The hardworking Gust is the proud proprietor of three outstanding food establishments, all within conversational distance of each other. And we're talking about the original Nick's at Rockaway Beach, The Moonraker and the Papagayo Room — all Gust family creations. Nick "writes off" very little petrol while overseeing his enterprises, and has yet to convince his tax examiner that shoe leather is a deductible business expense. Ted Downs, newly appointed general manager of The Rodeway Airport Inn, South San Francisco, has initiated a Sunday Champagne Brunch in the Encore Room. Guests have a choice of five selections, with juice or fruit, coffee and an individual bottle of champagne. Served every Sunday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Lucien Sabella Well Tailored

When speaking of snappy dressers, don't overlook dynamic Lucien Sabella, skipper of A. Sabella's at Fisherman's Wharf. Lucien currently favors well-tailored pin-striped suits, bright colored shirts and the fashionable wide neckties. When tooling around the City in his new Jaguar, the handsome gent is often mistaken for a European playboy. With summer vacation time now upon us, the resort areas and hotels are rapidly reaching full occupancy, and the same holds true for Wisconsin's picturesque Nippersink's Manor, near Genoa City, which happens to be owned by the gang at Scotty Campbell's—Theresa and Bud Urban and Mary Lou Francis. Laverne Cummings, one of the most popular entertainers at Finocchio's nightclub of female impersonators, has a wardrobe specially styled for his unique talents. His assortment of blond wigs (in many shades) all add to the illusion, which leads ringsiders to think they are looking at one of Hollywood's beautiful stars.

Top Chefs Dine At Exposition

Eighty of the world's foremost chefs, here to attend the Crab Olympics on Fisherman's Wharf, dined at the Exposition Fish Grotto and went for their famous Rex Sole in a big way. Manager Augie Rosasco picked up a few menu tips he intends adding to the great Expo selection. Manny Ortega, an expert night mixologist at Atherton's Lord Fletcher Inn, blends a special after-dinner drink for his bar patrons which has become a fast seller. It's called, appropriately enough, the Lord Fletcher. Of course, Manny refuses to divulge the ingredients. Patrons who drop into Romano's Italian restaurant (located in picturesque Rockaway Beach, Pacifica) are as impressed with Enrico Romano's Italian dinners as they are with his pizzas. These are full-course family-style servings, rich with sauce and doled in such quantities as to fill the palate without stuffing it. William F. Buckley, Jr., internationally syndicated columnist in 300 newspapers, signed autographs between courses as he dined with Charles Wallen in the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery, in downtown San Francisco.

Ansara's Adds Steak And Lobster Dinner

The "Let's Meet At Ansara's For Dinner" pattern is now well established for patrons of Circle Star Theater. So much so, that this week Manager Bob Ansara is re-introducing a special lobster tail-steak full course dinner which was so popular at Ansara's restaurant last year, until rising cost of these two items pushed them out of sight. But Bob has them back again, exactly as before and at last year's special price—$4.95 for a complete dinner (includes soup or salad, vegetables, baked potato, dessert and coffee or tea). Yet, it would be the Johnson neck if we didn't hasten to remind you that Ansara's continues to serve their varied full course dinners at an amazing $2.95... white linen and candlelight included. Circle Star or no, you'll enjoy Ansara's, just off the 101 Freeway in Redwood City... Attention, Singles (all ages over 25): Don't miss the big "Astrology Dance" scheduled for Friday, May 28, in the Marquee Room of Hyatt House Burlingame. Dance around—you'll like the sound of Dave Hopkins' cool sax and The Blue Flames, a seven-piece orchestra with an exciting rhythm sound. The fun begins at 9 p.m.

Foster's Special Starts Monday

Foster's in Hillsdale is offering another big chicken special which runs through Sunday, May 30. The promotion includes a free 6 Pack of Pepsi-Cola with the purchase of each $3.95 bucket of chicken. This bucket includes 14 pieces of chicken, a pint of gravy and 10 biscuits. For faster service, call ahead to place your order and then drop by to pick it up. It's an ideal time for jaunts to Lake Tahoe, and the best way to "jaunt" is through Park Avenue Tours' special package trips, via your own car or by bus. The same holds true for the Reno area, where guests enjoy overnight stays at the Ponderosa Hotel. For more information on these and other types of charters, contact your nearest Park Avenue Tours office... Roast Beef is an often-ordered menu attraction in the Greenwillow Room of the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, in downtown San Mateo. Chef Tom Delano's extensive menu also lists the much-favored Road Crossribs of Beef (au jus), plus many breakfast favorites and luncheon suggestions.

Infinite Variety Offered In Choices of Lamb Cuts

Lamb in its almost infinite variety presents scores of opportunities to the housewife (and her sisters) who moaned to the butcher: "Oh, I do wish there was a NEW meat."

For their edification, General Foods Kitchens has prepared information about selecting from the many cuts of lamb available and preferred methods of preparing them.

Lamb is from the carcass of young sheep less than a year old, and their young muscles haven't been used a great deal. Consequently, the meat is tender, juicy, and has a nice finish. (When the animal is over a year old, it begins to lose these desirable characteristics, and is called mutton.)

Knowledge about the lamb cuts are available to the consumer and can make meat buying much more enjoyable and economical. To assist in identifying lamb, women find it helpful to visualize the body structure from which we get six major wholesale pieces. Going from front to back they are: the shoulder, rack or upper back, loin or lower back, and leg. And underside the shanks or forelegs and breast. Roasts and chops come from the shoulder.

Select a square cut shoulder roast or one that's boned and rolled. Shoulder chops contain either a blade bone (called blade chops) or a round bone (referred to as round bone chops).

From the rack we get the rack or rib roast; cut through each rib and you have rib lamb chops. Similarly, from the loin there is the loin roast or loin chops. Two fancy chops are also available, for special asking: the Frenched rib chop, from the rack and the English chop, from the loin section.

Leg of lamb has always been a popular buy. The upper part gives us delectable sirloins, roasts, which can be cut into 1- or 2-inch sirloin steaks. The lower portion yields the traditional leg roast. It's the homemaker's decision whether she takes the leg with bone in or boned and tied. Again, she may have it cut into slices, and enjoy tender round leg steaks.

As 8- to 10-pound leg of lamb is a great buy. With the help of your butcher, you can feed a small family three meals. The first time, serve steaks from the sirloin end. For a second meal, have the shank removed; serve braised whole or boned and cubed in a hearty stew. The remaining center portion is just right for a roast lamb dinner.

Shanks and breast supply less tender, more economical cuts. A meal of braised lamb shanks is memorable. Also, roll and tie the breast for cooking in moist heat. Remember popular riblets are cut from across the tip of the ribs on this breast piece.

All these wholesale cuts produce trimmings from the butchering block for cubed and ground lamb, purchased for stews and loaves.

Roasts, steaks, chops, patties, and the like call for either roasting, broiling, pan-frying, or panbroiling. On the other hand, the neck slices, breasts, and riblets, require the moist heat methods of stewing or braising.

Lamb, like any meat when it is overcooked it becomes dry, tough, and rubbery.

Occasionally a cook wants to try out unusual spices and herbs. A bit of basil, chervil, celery seeds, chives, dill, marjoram, rosemary, savory, or thyme in your lamb dish can enhance its flavor no matter how you prepare it.

For more unusual flavor accents, baste the meat in a lemon or tomato sauce. A tangy orange sauce made from orange-flavored instant breakfast drink offers lots of color and taste appeal. Try rubbing the outside of the raw meat with a bit of garlic or cloves. And serve cooked lamb with prepared horseradish, capers, broiled fruit, currant jelly, or traditional mint-flavored sauces, glazes, or jellies.

Suitable pieces for outdoor cooking include steaks, chops and patties. For kebabs alternate one-inch cubes of lamb on a skewer with bacon and pineapple chunks or mushrooms.

When company is coming, a boned lamb shoulder is your answer to the main dish question. Especially when it's filled with an unusual packaged pre-cooked rice stuffing (which by the way, saves lots of time and energy for your dinner party). Then there is Crown Roast from the rack, an elegant cut to grace the dining table.

Wine Plus Cheese for Menu Treat

Next time you host a friendly card party, offer a winning menu combination — French cheese and wine. Today there is such a variety of cheeses imported from France that there is a type and flavor to please every palate. In addition, a platter of cheese imported from France demands little fuss and pre-preparation on the part of the host or hostess — guests just help themselves to a wedge.

From one to two hours ahead of serving time, remove the cheeses from the refrigerator, cut into wedges and let sit at room temperature.

When hunger strikes present the cheese platter and serve with slices of crunchy French bread, called baguette. To complete the flavor picture, and to do as the French do, include a bottle of French wine.

These are the basic ingredients but not to be more specific about the amount and kinds of cheese to buy. For a party of 8 to 12 people, select eight to 10 cheeses and allow about four ounces per person. There are about 100 varieties imported from France so you have a wide selection to choose from.

Soft-ripened cheeses, such as Brie and Camembert, are very popular; also the semisoft types, Bonbel, Port Salut and Pont l'Eveque; processed cheeses — one distinctive type is known as La Grappe, with its coating of grape seeds; and there are the flavorful chevres (goat cheeses), such as the pyramid of Valencay, cylindrical, Ste. Maure and Banon, wrapped in grape leaves.

As for wine — serve a good French one, not necessarily expensive. With the cheese platter suggested above a medium bodied red wine, such as Cote de Beaune from the vineyard of the Golden Slope of the Burgundy region. The Cote de Beaune wines are produced in an area not much more than 15 miles long, but the capital city of Beaune is a city tunneled with wine cellars. The wines of this region are characterized by softness and lightness —

Citizens' Committee Challenges Coastside Sewage Agreement

Petitions seeking a rescinding of the El Granada-Half Moon Bay joint sewer agreement prompted a special meeting of the El Granada Sanitation District for 7:30 Tuesday.

District Chairman Morris Bell called for the meeting at El Granada School after a press conference Monday in the office of San Bruno Attorney Ted Long.

The petitions carry 150 signatures, roughly 10 per cent of the registered voters of the sanitation district. They were submitted to Knute Kleinen, board secretary, last Wednesday.

Dale Hecht, a psychologist on the committee and also a resident with some sense of social consciousness.

Half Moon Bay city councilmen and sanitary district members recently adopted resolutions to build a new sewage treatment plant at an estimated cost of $2 million.

Through this agreement the two agencies could obtain as much as 80 per cent federal funding. Without the plant, construction in the area must be halted.

Both the present sewage treatment plants are nearly at full design capacity, about 300,000 gallons per day each. The Bay Region Water Quality Control Board has issued a cease and desist order to Half Moon Bay, halting new sewer connections because of treatment deficiencies and a leaking outfall line.

El Granada has placed a voluntary moratorium on new connections.

Developer Deane and Deane, Inc., has offered to pay the remaining 20 per cent of the sewage plant cost in exchange for development rights.

This offer is seen by some residents of El Granada and Half Moon Bay as giving the father-son development team carte blanche for uncontrolled growth of the Coastside.

Deane and Deane, in partnership with Westinghouse Corporation, recently paid $13 million for approximately 9,000 acres and has issued brochures stating Half Moon Bay is expected to become the largest city in the county with a future population of more than 100,000.

The SOS trio said Monday it believed it was up against a large corporate public relations effort to justify the Deane and Deane construction.

Long, Hecht and Murray said Deane and Deane should not be allowed to develop just for development's sake. They said they want the sewer agreement and planned growth of the area more defined.

"The economic powers continue to give us a series of developments that are killing us," Long said. "We feel that the elected officials are unable or unwilling to respond to the true needs of the people. Major developers have virtually gained control of city hall."

Firemen from the State Division of Forestry and the La Honda Fire Brigade fought for more than an hour Monday to keep flames from a storage barn on La Honda road from spreading to some 20 surrounding buildings.

Damage to the large building at Boysville Camp, which was used to store mattresses and beds, was estimated at $10,000.

First firemen on the scene, volunteers from the La Honda Fire Brigade, put out a grass fire and kept flames from spreading to other buildings at the camp on La Honda road about two miles west of La Honda.

H.M.B. Festival Marks 100th Anniversary

The 100th anniversary of Half Moon Bay's Pentecost Festival, or "Chamarita," will be observed May 29-31.

The festival marks the historic episode in the thirteenth century when Queen Isabella of Portugal carried her crown to the cathedral in Lisbon after her ships had brought food to the starving population of the Azores.

The ships had reached the volcano-torn islands on Pentecost Sunday.

The first celebration held on the Coastside was in 1871. A replica of Isabella's gold crown was carried to Our Lady of the Pillar Church. After a parade and religious observance at the church, participants offered thanksgiving from house to house.

A group of men carrying on the tradition of 1896 formed the IDES (Irmandade do Espírito Santo). Silver dollars were donated and melted. A new crown was made and it was carried to the church and placed on the altar, as traditionally was done many years prior. Today there are more than 100 active members in the Half Moon Bay IDES. To become a member one must either be of full or one-half Portuguese descent.

The president is Ron Garcia; vice president, Ken Ormonde; secretary, Clarence Silva; treasurer, Frank Martin; marshal, Henry Marsh; trustees, Joe Garcia Jr., Al Sequera and Melvin Mello.

The solemn march to the church has been replaced by groups of marching bands, units, Girl and Boy Scout Troops, 4-H Clubs, and fraternal organizations. The parade is at 10 a.m.

Forty-nine former queens have been invited to participate in this year's parade. The oldest living queen planning to attend was Queen in 1905.

Roxanne Valladao, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Valladao and member of a pioneer Half Moon Bay family has been selected queen for this year's Centennial celebration. Her maids will be Janet Francis and Maureen McCarthy.

The little queen will be Terry Marsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Marsh. Her maids will be Sherri Voigt and Teresa Canadas. Attendants will be Linda Pardini, Renee Digges, Deanna Doran and Sandra Chiesa. The queens are selected from the daughters of society members in a drawing.

"Chamarita," the social part of the festival includes dancing to the chant of "Chama Rita, Chama Rosa, Que Bonita, Que Formosa."

Dancing for the three day festival will be held in two halls. The Chamarita will be danced in the small Portuguese Hall and The Echoes will furnish music for modern dancing in the large IDES hall.

Other attractions of the weekend will include an auction, carnival and barbecue. All cows, calves, pigs, sheep, fowl and other merchandise auctioned at the annual auction are donated by members and friends of the organization. Money from the auction is used to pay taxes on the IDES hall and property and for other expenses in holding the celebration. All meat for the barbecues held on Sunday and Monday is donated.

Winds Hit N. County

A windstorm that gusted as high as 50 miles an hour caught a Pacifica sailboat in its fury off Oyster Point Marina at South San Francisco late Thursday.

After hours of battling the storm, the injured mariner was able to reach shore following a tow by a U.S. Coast Guard cutter.

The storm ripped through San Mateo County all through the evening, but caused only minor damage and a few outages, authorities said.

In San Mateo, the winds ripped a camper off a pickup truck at Bay Meadows. Trees were knocked flat in Belmont.

Burglar alarms were jarred into ringing in several South San Francisco business establishments.

A store sign was damaged in San Bruno. In Daly City, firemen reported two windows broken in homes in the Palisades area overlooking the ocean.

South San Francisco Fire Department officials said that John Hegner of 210 Crestmoor, Pacifica, got into trouble in his 26-foot craft in the early evening, as winds lashed the Bay into a froth.

Jaime Sandoval, 40, released from prison in 1968 after serving two years on a sexual molesting conviction, was found guilty by a San Francisco jury Friday of murdering the benefactor who got him released and the benefactor's housekeeper.

The jury of eight men and four women deliberated for 11 hours before reaching a verdict.

Sandoval was accused of shooting Edelmiro Huertas, 63, and Miss Carmen Aencio, 36, whose bullet-riddled bodies were found at the foot of Devil's Slide in San Mateo County on May 31 and June 1, 1970.

All three persons had shared a home in San Francisco after Sandoval's release from San Quentin Prison. Huerta was the president of the Agrupacion Politica Puertorriquena, a local political action group of Puerto Ricans. Sandoval, a former male nurse, is Puerto Rican.

Sandoval was charged with borrowing a .22-caliber rifle to kill the victims after learning he was to be evicted from the Huerta home.

The murders allegedly occurred at the home, with the bodies then taken to Devil's Slide in Huerta's car.
